Slated Tonight

By LAMAR Q. BALL.

Staccato blasts from sirens and whistles will sound tonight as the overture to the first rehearsal performance of the Second Battle of Atlanta.

Suddenly and shrilly, the warning will come at some unrevealed moment between 8 and 10 o'clock and, within three minutes, the maestros except the performance to be moving along smoothly.

All lights within the city limits of Atlanta, in College Park, in Decatur and in Druid Hills will be blacked out by curtains or switched off until the signal sounds that all is clear and life may be resumed in its normal course.

County Not Ready.

Although Fulton county areas outside the city limits are unprepared for participation in the first practice blackout in Atlanta, Mike Benton, senior air warden of the county, yesterday asked residents outside the city limits to co-operate by staging individual and unorganized blackouts "as well as possible."

Charles J. Currie, chairman of the Civilian Defense Committee, of Fulton county, said yesterday: "The city has the county's blessing in this first attempt at blackout. We, in the county are not quite prepared to participate in a blackout with any degree of efficiency. But, Fulton county is 100 per cent in support of the city's efforts."

Word that mythical enemy planes are approaching Atlanta will be telephoned to the Signal Department of the Fire Department from the Third Interceptor Command at Charleston, S. C., the organization charged with the air protection of this section of the southeast.

Planes To Spot Lights.

When the Fire Department's signal forces receive this warning through special telephone setups, the signals will be sounded.

Atlanta, it is hoped, will be a black spot on the ground. For the benefit of those who may be alarmed by the roar of airplane motors over the city during the blackout, General E. G. Peyton, czar of the Civilian Defense forces of Atlanta, emphasized yesterday that the planes will be neither Jap or German.

"Mayor McCraw and myself and a few others will be up there checking on the results," said the general.

Loudspeaker in Plane.

For the further information of those who might be tense and nervous, the weird blast of powerful voices in the black air of night will have no relation to the popular idea of Doomsday.

The official checking plane will be equipped with a loud-speaker and the voices issuing from this unseen voice box will be merely those of the mayor and the general.

"I might holler—Hey, Buckhead, you're sticking out there like a stick nose on a circus clown," the mayor explained amiably yesterday.

Buckhead is not supposed to be in the blackout, but the mayor is going to let everyone know how the whole blackout business looks from the air as he flies here and there in a special observation plane furnished by Eastern Air Lines.

The plane will fly over the Lawson General hospital and the Navy's Reserve aviation base next door and a single command from the loudspeaker will bring an immediate blackout at those posts.

The plane will fly back and forth, within the Atlanta area, while the voices of the general and the mayor bellow from the skies.

"Hey, we can see a light down there—oops, where was it?"

The plane will fly low and as

A valuable lesson in ad-writing was given by the cook who advertised for a job via the Want Ad pages of The Constitution. She gave all the facts about herself—even told she was Size 18, to avoid misunderstanding about uniforms with prospective employers—when she called Walnut 6565 to place her advertisement.

BEAUTY WINNER—A picture of winsome Betty Ann Lilly, 17-year-old daughter of Colonel and Mrs. E. J. Lilly, of 2117 Fairhaven circle, N. E. (he's with MacArthur), will appear in the Pandora beauty section in the 1942 edition of the University of Georgia yearbook. Betty Ann, who went to North Fulton High school, is the sponsor of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and one of eight co-ed beauties whose pictures will appear in the book.

Daughter of Colonel Fighting
In Philippines Beauty Winner

A 17-year-old Atlanta girl whose father is fighting with General MacArthur in the Philippines has been selected as one of the eight beauty queens whose pictures will appear in the pulchritude section of Pandora, the University of Georgia yearbook. She is Betty Ann Lilly, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Edmund J. Lilly, of 2117 Fairhaven circle, and she is the sponsor of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Shortly before the Georgia ATO chapter selected the pretty little Atlanta freshman as their candidate for the university beauty crown, the Tech ATO chapter elected her its sponsor to lead the annual dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving Club tomorrow night. She will lead the dance with President William Sey, of the Tech chapter, and will be crowned with a coronet of defense bonds.

Other sponsors selected for the Pandora beauty section are Blanche Cobb, of Hartwell, sponsored by Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity; Ione Mercer, Montezuma, Chi Phi; Louise Hall, Blue Ridge, Clark Howell dormitory; Mary Sue Martin, Tifton, Sigma Chi; Anna May Pryor, Fitzgerald, Pi Kappa Alpha; Elizabeth Bryans, Augusta, Kappa Alpha, and Dorothy Ann Wellman, Athens, Phi Delta Theta.

The weather will be slightly warmer today, but a light freeze is expected, Meteorologist Glen Jefferson said yesterday.

Yesterday's minimum was 29 degrees and the maximum was 38, Jefferson said.

CANADIAN LOSSES.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—(P)—A total of 296 Canadian soldiers were killed or missing in the defense of Hongkong, Defense Minister J. L. Ralston said today.

Prophecy of a long, hard war that would be won only by superiority in the air, was sounded by Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, No. 1 ace of World War I, in a stirring address to the officers, men and flight students at the United States Naval Reserve Aviation Base yesterday afternoon.

Captain Rickenbacker said his greatest regret was that an accident (the Eastern Air Line crash here a year ago tomorrow) had deprived him of the honor of being in a uniform now. He closed his address by saying in a broken voice, "I envy you—very much."

Captain Rickenbacker began by saying he was confident that the men at the base were going to contribute their "share toward maintaining those things we enjoy—primarily American citizenship."

"I am here," he said, "an Army man talking to Navy men. There has been some proof of a lack of co-operation between our forces, but that is past history. Today the Navy, the Army, the Marine Corps, the Coast Guard and the workers at home must be 'one for all and all for one.' The attitude must be assumed if we are to be victorious."

Senate Passes
Parity Measure
Despite F. D. R.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—President Roosevelt lost another argument with the powerful senate farm bloc today when the senate voted 50 to 23 to prohibit sales of government stocks of farm products below a full parity price.

Disregarding a special presidential warning against "grasping for a few dollars in the name of farmers," the chamber first defeated a compromise proposal, 48 to 24, and then widened this two-to-one margin on the final vote that sent the measure to the house.

Despite their top-heavy senate victory, farm bloc leaders conceded that their measure, intended to boost market prices for corn, wheat and cotton, faced a doubtful future. Even if the house approved the senate measure, President Roosevelt's blunt letter to the senate today indicated a probable veto.

Price Boost Seen.

The first test came on a proposal by Senator Brown, Democrat, Michigan, to deduct the amount of government farm benefit payments from parity levels and let the resultant figure be the minimum at which the government could dispose of its surplus stocks.

Brown earlier had charged that the farm bloc restrictions would add $1,000,000,000 to the present rising costs of living, but Thomas protested that this was asking farmers "for a billion dollar sacrifice."

With the compromise soundly defeated, farm bloc leaders yelled for a roll call on passage. Thirty-four Democrats, 14 Republicans, one Progressive and one Independent shouted approval. The minority opposition included 16 Democrats and seven Republicans.

(Senator Russell voted for the bill. Senator George did not vote but was announced as for passage.)

Damage Predicted.

Mr. Roosevelt, in a letter addressed to Vice President Wallace, said the legislation would do "irreparable damage to the war effort and to the farmers of the country."

"In this hour, when the very existence of our nation as a free people is at stake," he said, "we cannot afford to indulge in the promotion of selfish interests such as are involved in this legislation."

But farm bloc spokesmen reiterated their fears that Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and Price Administrator Leon Henderson would release the surplus stocks to beat down market prices below parity levels.

To Build Bell Bomber Factory

By RALPH MCGILL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Robert & Company, engineering and architectural firm of Atlanta, has been awarded the architect-engineering managing contract to construct the huge $30,000,000 Bell bomber plant to be built in Cobb county, it was learned here this afternoon.

Government sources would not officially confirm the award, but it is a fact that Robert & Company have the contract.

Robert & Company will work with and under the direction of the United States engineers and the Bell Company. Contracts will be let for the building, the wiring, the plumbing, the sewers and so on.

The selection of Robert & Company carries out the announced plan of using, insofar as is possible, local labor and local business enterprises.

Robert & Company, headed by L. W. (Chip) Robert and his father, L. W. Robert Sr., with Cherry Emerson, well-known Atlantian, as general manager, is one of the largest engineering companies in the United States.

Since most of his contracts have been well outside the Atlanta area, not many Georgians are aware of the farflung expansion of the Robert Company. The company's involvement in a typical Georgia political feud some two years ago in an investigation of the Milledgeville hospital contract, was the only local advertisement it has had. Actually there was nothing out of line in that contract, it being the usual architectural con-

56 Attacks on Axis
Underwater Vessels
Reported by Knox

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Such tremendous blows have been dealt to Japan's navy and merchant marine that if the rate of destruction continues for one year, her eventual doom will be sealed, United States naval officers indicated tonight.

This authoritative word was given to reporters after the Navy disclosed officially that it had sent 53 Nipponese naval and merchant vessels to the bottom since December 10.

(It also said in passing that it has good reason to believe that three more enemy submarines have been sunk by United States Naval action in the Atlantic theater and four damaged. This brings the total of subs sunk or damaged by the Navy in that ocean since the war began to 21, in as much as Secretary Knox had declared on December 21 that 14 had either been sent to the bottom or hit. Knox said 56 attacks had been made on enemy submarines in the Atlantic in the last two months.)

53 Jap Ships Sunk.

Knox, in mentioning the figure of 53 Jap ships sunk since December 10, added that the Navy believed it had sunk seven more and damaged five. Nor was this the whole picture. If blows dealt to Japan's oceanic might by the United States Army and its air forces are reckoned in, the score stands:

Believed Sunk	Damaged
73	33
Broken down into combat ships and non-combatant craft
Combatant Vessels:
Believed Sunk	Damaged
18	18
Non-Combatant Vessels:
Believed Sunk	Damaged
55	15

In addition, terrific blows have been dealt by the Dutch, although the figures on their deeds were not up-to-date enough tonight to include in the grand total, they have been sinking or damaging Nipponese vessels at the approximate rate of one a day.

Situation Anxious.

Looking at this picture as a whole, authorized Navy spokesmen declared "they (the Japs) can't keep these losses up over a year with their building program." To win under these conditions, they added, Japan would have to "make this a quick and fast war."

What he meant was clear: That unless Japan could find some way to expand vastly her present strictly limited shipbuilding facilities or to lower the rate at which her shipping is being destroyed, the campaign of attrition will bring her to her knees.

Although Japan has 23 shipyards, with 62 berths for construction of large craft, her steel resources are limited and building facilities are believed to be far below what would be necessary to make up current losses.

For example, Japan's biggest year in merchant shipbuilding since the World War was 1937, when she turned out 180 vessels of 100 tons or more, a total gross tonnage of 451,121. The United States program calls for 8,000,000 tons of merchant ships in 1942.

Comprehensive Report.

In the first comprehensive report made on enemy submarine activity in the western half of the ocean, since coastal attacks began early in January, Knox disclosed that a total of 114 ships of United Nations registry had been attacked by enemy submarines west of 30 degrees west longitude, the meridian which roughly divides the Atlantic.

The communique reported that during January a total of 22 ships of United Nations registry had had torpedoes fired at them in waters contiguous to United States shores.

An additional 38 other ships were attacked in January farther out in the Atlantic but still west of the middle of the ocean. One enemy submarine was believed to have been sunk and three were believed to have been damaged with 34 additional attacks on subs producing only inconclusive evidence of damage.

During the current month, up to and including February 23, and in the same near-by waters, 23 United Nations vessels were attacked by enemy subs in coastal waters and 31 were attacked further out. Two enemy subs were believed to have been sunk and one damaged with 15 additional attacks made by American forces with inconclusive results.

Knox told his conference that the estimates of sinkings and

U.S. and British
Down 30 Ships
Over Rangoon

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 25.—(P)—American and British pilots, brilliantly defending the air over Rangoon by smashing some 30 enemy planes, struck out as well today in wide offensive sweeps against the packed masses of Japanese troops along the Sittang river while the Imperial land forces reorganized their lines during a lull in action afield.

Aside from this high score in the destruction of enemy craft—and a communique tonight made plain that it might yet run beyond the announced 30 when all reports were in—two Japanese river boats were sunk near fallen Moulmein, on the Salween river, a rearward operational base for the invader.

(More than 400 miles northwest of Rangoon, certain areas of the Chittagong district of India, nearest to Burma on the shores of the Bay of Bengal, were being evacuated, a Madras official statement said, as a "purely precautionary measure." Chittagong is just east of Calcutta and the mouths of the Ganges. The Madras statement said there was no reason for panic.)

Fires and explosions down-river from Rangoon and demolition of a vital oil refinery by the British forces—according to plan—were reported.

On the Sittang's west bank—in an area only 10 miles short of Rangoon, a city all but depopulated—the British field command deployed its forces for a fateful stand along that last natural barrier short of this ancient capital.

No fighting was reported on that front; the enemy, too, was seeking to fill the great gaps cut in his columns in the furious struggle by which he had thrown bridgeheads across the stream.

"On the northern front," the afternoon British communique announced, "there is nothing to report."

"On instructions from the Governor of Burma, a military command has been appointed in Rangoon to prevent looting and arson."

"Curfew has been ordered from tonight in Rangoon."

All save military forces had been sent out of the city in a compulsory evacuation.

The fight for southern Burma had been a delaying action and it was expected that enemy forces soon would seek to break into the Shan states of northeastern Burma, there to collide for the first time with thousands of Chinese troops assigned to its defense.

110 Women, Children
Removed From Aruba

ARUBA, Netherlands West Indies, Feb. 25.—(P)—American women and children, numbering 110, have been removed by airplane from this oil-refining island off Venezuela, it was disclosed today.

(Although this dispatch did not give the time of the removal of the women and children, it is presumed it took place sometime since February 16, when enemy submarines first made their appearance, sank several tankers and shelled the oil refinery.)

Coastal 'Raid' False Alarm, Knox Declares

Guns Pump Thousands of Shells Into Skies Over Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Metropolitan Los Angeles had chills and thrills early today as sweeping searchlights pierced the sky and antiaircraft guns pumped thousands of rounds of ammunition toward an objective which hours later the Army had not identified.

In Washington, Secretary Knox said it was "just a false alarm." The Western Defense Command said no enemy bombs were dropped and no planes shot down during the spectacular blackout which lasted from 2:25 a. m. (PWT) until 7:21 a. m.

At 3:45 p. m. Fourth Army headquarters issued this statement, without elaboration: "The aircraft which caused the blackout in the Los Angeles area for several hours this morning have not been identified."

Antiaircraft Guns Bark. Sirens awakened most of the area's three million sleepers and within a few minutes they saw a slow-moving object, which many thought was a blimp, caught in an intensely bright patch of light where scores of searchlights converged. The "boom, boom, boom" of antiaircraft guns rattled windows in some of the beach areas and there were brilliant bursts of fire around the sky craft.

In some areas, ack-ack shells exploded in residential districts, but no one was injured. The Fourth Interceptor Command declined to comment on whether Japanese planes or a blimp flew over the harbor and aircraft factory areas.

One official source, which declined to be quoted directly, told the Associated Press Army planes went into action as soon as the air raid signal was given, but another official source later reported the planes stayed on the ground because of the danger of being caught in their own antiaircraft fire. He said ground crews saw unidentified planes.

Eight Japs Released. Police recalled that 12, midnight, was the zero hour for Japanese aliens to leave the coastal defense areas. Twenty Japanese were jailed for various infractions of the blackout ordinance. Eleven other persons were detained for failure to comply with defense precautions. Eight Japanese, who had been held for suspicion of trying to aid enemy planes by guiding them to defense industrial plants, were released for lack of evidence.

Flares also were reported to have fallen in several sections, on the beaches and far inland, some as late as 6 a. m. Police authorities in some areas said they were convinced Japanese had attempted to direct invading planes by use of flares.

Blackout Casualties. Reports from excited civilian observers, who were sure they saw planes, ranged from one to 200. But one watcher near an aircraft factory said he had long range field glasses trained to the sky areas raked by the long, slim rays of the searchlights and saw "not one single plane in all the time the firing was going on."

On the whole, the blackout was effective. But it was not without its casualties.

A state guardsman died of a heart attack while driving his ammunition truck. An air raid warden fell and broke his leg while chasing someone he thought might be a Jap.

Five babies were born during the blackout. At Santa Barbara, near the scene of Monday night's shelling of an oil field by a Japanese submarine, District Attorney Percy Heckendorf said there was "convincing proof that there were shore signals flashed to the enemy."

GRIM FIREWORKS OVER LOS ANGELES—This photograph was taken during the height of an antiaircraft barrage in the metropolitan Los Angeles area during a noisy sky drama, which was termed "a false alarm" by

Secretary of Navy Knox. Guns pumped tons of shells into a patch of sky where searchlight beams converged. The little round white dots were made by the exploding shells. Many thought a blimp was the target of the guns.

Jones Denies Any Blame for Rubber Crisis

No One Anticipated Loss of Pacific Sources, He Says.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones today irately disclaimed responsibility for the rubber shortage and declared that neither he nor anyone else "expected we would lose entire control of the Pacific."

He told the House Interstate Commerce Committee that the country had about 650,000 tons of raw rubber in storage, and that the nation would be producing a maximum of 500,000 tons of synthetic rubber by the end of 1943—four-fifths of it in plants to be built under contracts let this year.

"I am convinced," he said, "that if we use what we have carefully and sparingly, we will have enough to supply our necessary war demands and have some for essential civilian needs." He estimated that a "modest" amount—anywhere from 10,000 to 50,000 tons—would come from Brazil.

Earlier, pressed by Representative Wolverton, Republican, New Jersey, ranking minority member of the committee, as to why greater production of synthetic rubber had not been undertaken prior to Pearl Harbor, Jones shifted in the witness chair and, leaning forward, inquired:

"Hold up your hand and tell me if any of you gentlemen knew that Singapore would fall and that we would lose our supply from the Dutch East Indies?"

There were no hands raised.

DUTCHMEN STAB NAZI. LONDON, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Defiant Dutchmen fatally stabbed a German soldier in Amsterdam on the same day that a Nazi court-martial there sentenced two Dutchmen to execution and several others to long prison terms, Aneta News Agency reported today. The soldier was said to have been attacked by four Dutchmen on February 2 in what the German military commander described as a "cowardly attack."

Firemasters Seek To Retire Older Firemen

Chief Styron Protests Move, Says All Members Are Fit.

Moves to retire older men in the fire department and to reclassify and revamp the seven-man fire prevention bureau were initiated yesterday by the board of firemasters over the protest of Fire Chief Styron.

The action was authorized at a meeting of the board Tuesday night. Styron said yesterday he did not know how many of the men may be ordered to take physical examinations to determine whether or not they are able to fight fires. When asked directly if unfit men are on the department's rolls, he replied negatively.

Councilman Howard Haire, board chairman, said Styron had been asked to prepare a list of the older men, and that examinations probably will be ordered by the board at its next meeting, slated for March 31. Haire said if a list was not offered, the board might prepare one.

City Attorney Jack C. Savage will be asked to prepare measures for revamping the fire prevention bureau as soon as a definite program has been evolved, it was said.

Scripto Worker Is Bound Over To Grand Jury

John Frye Charged With Effort To Evade U. S. Tests.

John Frye, youthful worker of the Scripto pencil factory, now engaged on an Army ordnance contract, was held for the federal grand jury yesterday after his filing of the edge of small metal rotors had been variously described as an experiment aimed toward increased production and as a criminal effort to evade government tests. Bond was set at $1,500.

Frye insisted he was trying to make the rotors as smoothly edged as some others previously used for tests, to increase production of boosters for artillery shells, while federal inspectors said the tendency of the alterations would be to produce duds. He previously had admitted improved efficiency of production by thickening a screw head used in the booster.

U. S. Commissioner Meyerhardt held Frye, for whom neighbors, former instructors, and his pastor testified, possibly had acted from "egoism or choler toward the inspector." He specifically pointed out there was nothing to indicate Frye had served any foreign interest or sought financial gain from his act.

Surgery Honor Is Presented to Cator Woolford

Honorary Fellowship Goes to First Georgian for Dental Service.

Cator Woolford last night became the first Georgian ever elected an honorary fellow in the International College of Surgeons when his citation was awarded him by Dr. J. G. Williams, Atlanta dentist.

The citation, one of only two awarded, was given Dr. Williams, serving as Woolford's proxy, at the annual meeting of the group in Chicago Tuesday.

The award reads as follows: "In recognition of distinguished achievements and contribution to the dental profession and in appreciation of conspicuous and outstanding services rendered to the cause of oral science, Cator Woolford has been elected an Honorary Fellow."

Woolford has shown great interest in the dental health of school children and general dental health for more than 25 years. He promoted and financed the dental health program in the Atlanta city schools until taken over by the city. He equipped a dental clinic for Negroes in Grady hospital and last year contributed $10,000 to produce a dental health education picture to be used in teaching dental health throughout the United States.

Vocational Training Program Will Be Speeded in Georgia

Members of the vocational committee of the State Board of Education yesterday afternoon gave the "go ahead" signal for a vast expansion of the vocational education program in Georgia, brought about largely by employment needs of the giant bomber plant to be operated in Cobb county by the Bell Aircraft Corporation.

'Friendly Gesture' Services Planned

A series of "friendly gesture" services in which officials and employees of Atlanta industries will be invited to participate will be started by the First Methodist church Sunday night.

Carl Wolf, president of the Atlanta Gas Light Company, and other officials and employees of the company will be invited to the first service, which will begin at 8 o'clock Sunday. "The Problem Home—and Its Bankrupt Morals" will be the subject of the first of the series. Dr. Pierce Harris, pastor, announced.

Other subjects in the series are: "The Problem Woman—and Her Lost Ideals," "The Problem Citizen—Patriot or Parasite?" "The Problem Youth—and Its Dreadful Future" and "The Problem Church—and Its Sleeping Saints."

This approval by the vocational group came after Leonard J. Kline, director of training for the aircraft corporation, met yesterday morning with industrial heads and educational leaders and arranged for 32 picked men to go to Buffalo, N. Y., headquarters of the bomber builders, and take an intensive four to six-week training course. They will then come back and form the nucleus of the training program in Georgia.

32 to Make Trip. When the training machinery has been completely set up, Georgia will be turning out approximately 3,300 trainees every 10 weeks, ready to take their places in the bomber plant.

Kline said the 32 men who will go to Buffalo will be selected from a group of approximately 200 already recommended by their employers. They will leave Sunday week.

The first training to be given the thousands of employees who eventually will go to work in the bomber plant will be concentrated mainly in the Atlanta vicinity—in the Atlanta, Fulton county, Marietta and Cobb county school systems and at Georgia Tech in co-operation with the N.Y.A.

Business To Benefit. Later, when the aircraft corporation begins to reach out into the state for employees, J. R. Womack, assistant state supervisor of industrial education, will be ready to carry on with six movable units—equipment that can be readily transferred to any section of the state. These units will be principally for training in fabrication, assembly and riveting.

An indication that small business will benefit tremendously from the bomber plant came with the announcement of a survey of every machine tool in the state, to be completed within the next 10 days.

Dr. M. B. Mobley, vocational director, said his department by next fall would be turning out double the present 5,000 skilled workers in the mechanical, aviation, shipyard, fuse plant and allied fields.

Kline pointed out that three men will be required for each piece of equipment—for each eight-hour shift. He said it was hoped the plant would be ready to begin operations on a small scale by October or November.

California Ends Years Of Debt, Balances Budget

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 25.—(P)—California redeemed $57,451,912 in warrants today in a record cash transaction which State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson declared balanced the budget and placed the state government on a cash basis after years of debt.

"This very favorable condition is due to the uptrend in business," said Johnson, "and with its continuance and the practice of economy, should effect a substantial reduction in our present tax levies."

The huge warrant redemption was made possible by the loan of $10,000,000 from special funds which were not being used and which will be reimbursed July 1.

Norwegian Patriots Destroy Nazi Depots

MOSCOW, Thursday, Feb. 26.—(P)—The Moscow radio said today that Norwegian patriots had destroyed two new German military depots near Trondheim, setting fire to large quantities of munitions and fuel.

A supply depot at Namsos also was fired, it was said.

SINGAPORE TERMED "TRAP." LONDON, Feb. 25.—(P)—Any attempt to withdraw British troops from Singapore would have "been sheer murder" because Japan controlled both the air and sea about the island, an informed source said today. He disclosed that the British had only merchant shipping at the smoking city of Singapore at the end.

tract employed in all states. It simply got in the middle in a political fight, which obscured the fact that the Atlanta firm is one of the nation's largest.

What Robert needs to do is to purchase some institutional advertising in Atlanta and southern newspapers to let the southern people know that the young man who once "scrubbed" on Georgia Tech's football team has, by developing into one of the smartest and most sophisticated country boys ever to come out of Georgia, built his company into a position where it probably is one of the largest architectural and engineering companies in the United States and Canada.

Chip, along with James R. Robinson Sr., of the First National Bank in Atlanta, also a smart and sophisticated country boy, is from Monticello, Ga. Both have come far and both have kept their headquarters in Georgia. Intimates refer to them as the Monticello twins.

Robert & Company has been much in the news and has been a target for its foes, but the fact remains that architectural and managerial contracts are awarded by a government board which carefully examines all propositions. The company continues, because of its ability and skilled personnel, including more than 300 draughtsmen and a large number of engineers, to win large government contracts.

Chip Robert was in Atlanta Tuesday and it is assumed he will remain there for several days consulting with the Bell Aircraft Company and United States engineering officials.

Leader Urges Indies To Take Firm Stand Against Japs.

BATAVIA, N. E. I., Thursday, Feb. 26.—(P)—Lieutenant Governor General Hubertus J. Van Mook told the Netherlands East Indies people last night in a broadcast that "the foreign troops which are here will remain and will be maintained through a regular stream of reinforcements . . . the time for holding out and attacking has come."

He asked his listeners to consider the valiant case of General Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines "who keeps up his resistance in circumstances which are much more difficult than ours," and added that the U. S. general "has taught us that the enemy is not as much as you can and never give up studying. You must learn every department before you can become a good combat pilot."

Warning against overconfidence, he said: "Don't think that after your first 50, 100 or 200 hours in the air you are a helluva good pilot. In the last war we found that some of the greatest stunts of them all 'flopped' when they faced combat."

Turning to his own flying experiences in the last war, he related how he became airsick time and time again attempting a certain maneuver, so sick at times that he wished an enemy plane would shoot him down. He described the long, tedious practice learning to shoot, and the self-control needed to learn to conserve ammunition until one burst of fire was enough to down a plane.

Rickenbacker was introduced by Commander D. Ward Harrigan, commanding officer of the local Naval Base, who recalled that he was a midshipman at the Naval Academy and was in a line of honor when Captain Rickenbacker visited Annapolis in 1919. He said that he could not have imagined at that time that 23 years later he would be introducing Captain Rickenbacker to a group of men preparing for another war.

Commander Harrigan paid tribute to Captain Rickenbacker's achievements in the last war and to the undying spirit and determination that carried him through the plane accident a year ago.

Removal of Perkins, 40-Hour Week End Sought in Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Demands for suspension of the 40-hour week and removal of Secretary of Labor Perkins were made in congress today as union-management disputes led to two additional work stoppages.

At the same time an informed source reported that the administration might ask for a drastic "work or fight" measure and some senators discussed the feasibility of legislation to formulate a definite policy, which they held was now lacking, to govern settlement of disputes before the War Labor Board.

Representative Smith, Democrat, Virginia, served notice, during house consideration of a new war powers bill, that he would offer an amendment tomorrow to suspend all the various eight-hour day and 40-hour week laws which he declared were "now handicapping the war effort." Representative Hoffman, Republican, Michigan, endorsed the proposal, saying "We here at home, like the armed forces, must devote our whole time to winning the war."

Miss Perkins' removal was demanded by Senator Byrd, Democrat, Virginia, in a speech detailing what he termed "nine years of incompetence." He declared that "her influence in all labor disputes had not been exerted for the best interests of the country as a whole."

Byrd Accuses Labor.

Byrd also urged that congress "adopt a definite declaration of national labor policy," saying that because the administration had failed to effectuate one "time and again ruthless labor leaders have taken advantage of this failure."

"We are faced with deadly peril," he declared. "First things must come first. The war can be won only by making the war effort first and supreme in all our activities, both of the government and as individual citizens."

An influential Democratic senator disclosed that a bill had been under discussion for several days which might provide for the immediate drafting into the armed services of striking workers who had been deferred because of employment in essential industry and for the blacklisting of strikers not subject to selective service.

Calling this proposal too drastic, Senator Ellender, Democrat, Louisiana, of the labor committee, said he thought congress ought to enact at once legislation freezing open and closed shops for the duration.

Asks for "Policy."
Senator Ball, Republican, another committee member, disliking military service a punishment, especially in the absence of any declaration of national war labor policy.

"There has been no national policy formulated, except for the President's declaration that there should be no interruption of production," Ball commented. "Congress ought to settle now the question of union security, jurisdictional dispute and wages."

Senator Hill, of Alabama, the Democratic whip, said he felt some legislation was needed to give the War Production Board broader powers to prevent work stoppages.

"It just isn't in keeping with any all-out effort to win a war to have anybody stop work, even for an hour," Hill declared.

Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, another committee member, proposed that in addition to freezing open and closed shops, congress act to link war production wages.

to the cost of living so pay increases could be granted only when it was shown that living costs had increased.

The day brought a strike of CIO welders at the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation repair yards in Hoboken, N. J., in protest against a foreman's "abusive conduct and use of vile and abusive names," according to a union spokesman. The union reported that enough strikers returned to "continue without interruption work on naval contracts."

1,800 Stage Walkout.
More than 1,800 CIO unionists struck for about an hour at the Minneapolis Moline Power Implement Company, which has war contracts, in protest against delays in negotiations for wage increases.

Production at the Monarch Aluminum Manufacturing Company in Cleveland, makers of aircraft parts, approached normal after a one-day work stoppage in a dispute involving recognition of a CIO union.

The CIO will attempt to organize the nation's 3,000,000 dairymen, Ralph Marlatt, national director of the United Dairy Farmers (CIO), said in Utica, N. Y.

Marlatt asserted 5,000 Michigan farmers already have voted CIO affiliation and that organization activity will be extended next week to the Chicago milked in Wisconsin, Illinois and Minnesota, and later to New England.

Leaders of the AFL and the CIO were understood to have protested to President Roosevelt yesterday that Leon Henderson's recently expressed opposition to general wage increases had injured labor's case for higher wages before the War Labor Board.

The labor leaders, conferring with Mr. Roosevelt for the second time within a month, also were said to have recommended that the task of directing wartime mobilization of manpower be assigned to a single administrator in the Labor Department instead of to a board as proposed in the so-called McNutt plan.

Philip Murray and William Green, respective heads of the CIO and AFL, pronounced the conference "satisfactory," but declined to discuss details of their recommendations with reporters.

The recommendations were worked out at joint meetings of CIO and AFL officials and were said to have conflicted sharply on the wage question with Henderson's weekend pronouncement at Des Moines, Iowa, in which the price administrator said that any "general increase in basic wage rates will compound an already difficult problem in the price field."

Cite Cost of Living.
The union leaders were reported to have told Mr. Roosevelt that basic increases were necessary to keep pace with rising living costs and that wages could not be frozen at present levels so long as prices continued to increase.

"In Detroit, R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers-CIO, said in his quarterly report to the membership, it is the duty of every UAW-CIO local to observe the CIO's no-strike pledge."

"The prospect of defeat for our nation is such a terrible one that American workers must make every effort to promote defense production and peacefully to adjust our differences with employers," Thomas said.

"There is no sense in engaging in false optimism. We have a terrific and costly struggle ahead of us."

In another section of the report, Thomas urged locals to seek wage increases, but said that while "pressing for these wage adjustments, our prime objective must keep uppermost in mind that we are at war."

Mrs. Lundeen Defends Viereck

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Norma Lundeen, widow of Minnesota's late Farm-Laborite senator, took the stand today to declare she had never heard George Sylvester Viereck, registered agent of German interests, make any un-American remarks.

She was called as a defense witness at the trial of Viereck, who is accused of withholding essential information when he registered with the State Department.

Mrs. Lundeen told a federal district court jury that she had known Viereck for seven or eight years and that her husband had known him somewhat longer.

Asked by Emil Morosini, defense counsel, whether Viereck ever had made any un-American statements within her hearing, she replied emphatically:

"No, he wouldn't have been welcome in our home if he had."

She also said she had never seen envelopes from the German embassy in her husband's office.

Mrs. Lundeen testified in reply to charges of former office workers employed by her husband that the senator had forced them to "kick back" part of their salaries. She said the money had gone for research purposes.

She will take the stand again Monday when the trial is resumed. Prior to her testimony, the government had climaxed its case with testimony by a British imperial censor which was intended to show that Viereck had been in communication with the Wilhelmstrasse in Berlin.

Nadya Gardner, censorship worker at Hamilton, Bermuda, testified that last July she had intercepted an envelope containing the manuscript of a book by former Democratic Senator Rush Holt, of West Virginia, entitled "Who's Who Among the War Monkeys."

Miss Gardner said the outer envelope was addressed to "Sehnor Hoyningero Hueros," described by William P. Maloney, special assistant attorney general, as the Portuguese alias of the German ambassador in Lisbon. Miss Gardner added that an inner envelope containing the manuscript was addressed to Dr. Hans Heinrich Dieckhoff, former German ambassador to the United States who was then in Berlin.

James V. Blaine, FBI, handwriting and typewriting expert, told the federal district court jury that letters written by Viereck and signed by Viereck, and the envelope addressed to Lisbon and Berlin were written on the same typewriter.

The government's presentation of Miss Gardner followed another reappearance on the stand of George Hill, former office employee of Representative Fish, Republican, New York.

Accuses Attorney Hill, now under prison sentence for perjury, told the court that his trial attorney, John J. O'Connor, former Democratic congressman from New York, had advised him against telling the truth during the perjury hearing.

Under examination by William P. Maloney, special assistant attorney general, Hill said he had decided to tell the truth while "at the communion rail at the 'Epiphany church one Sunday' and told his attorney of his decision."

"Who was your attorney?" asked Maloney.

"The Honorable John J. O'Connor," Hill replied. "He told me to sit down and when I told him I was going to tell the truth, he said 'You are going nuts.'"

Hill, who later changed attorneys, testified further that on every occasion when he went to see O'Connor and "said I was going to tell the truth, I was told not to."

One of the charges against Hill was his denial before a federal grand jury that he knew Viereck.

Survivor List In Sea Disaster Raised to 168

Details of Heroic Battle With Surf Revealed in Rescue.

ST. JOHN'S NEWFOUNDLAND, Feb. 25.—(AP)—The rescue of an additional 125 survivors of the U. S. destroyer Truxtun and the U. S. naval supply ship Pollux was reported here tonight along with the first thrilling details of a heroic battle which Newfoundlanders and the American officers and seamen waged against the elements as their vessels were pounded to pieces on Newfoundland's rocks in a blizzard.

There were 168 survivors (only 43 had been reported before), reports reaching here said tonight, while 200 others are known dead or missing. Late today 118 bodies had been recovered from the surf 200 feet below the tops of the towering cliffs, near the village of St. Lawrence.

The Navy in Washington yesterday listed 189 officers and men as lost in the recent double wreck. The two ships were part of a large American convoy, the destination of which was not disclosed.

The ships had been cast on the rocks by a driving southeasterly gale some four hours before Newfoundlanders were aware of the fact, and it might have been much longer if four Truxtun sailors had not managed to reach shore on a raft.

Smashed Against Shore. The ships were smashed against the shore at 4:30 a. m. and at 8:30 a. m. one of the quartet on the raft walked into Iron Springs, location of the St. Lawrence Flour-spar Corporation, and asked the assistant manager, Howard Farrell, for assistance.

The destroyer had grounded at Chamber's Cove, just outside St. Lawrence harbor, while the Pollux was aground at Laun's Point, about a mile and a half farther west. Almost miraculously, a second United States destroyer from the convoy, which also had run aground was lifted from the trap by a huge wave, and the vessel was able to chug out to safety.

The scene of the wrecks was near the United States naval base of Argentia. The village of St. Lawrence is isolated from the rest of Newfoundland except for wireless and coastal steamship communication.

Upon learning of the Truxtun wreck, Farrell immediately ordered all work stopped in the mine, and all employees hastened to the scene.

Villagers Respond. Word spread, and other Newfoundlanders responded similarly.

A master of a coastal boat, a Captain Connors, who was sheltering from the storm in St. Lawrence harbor, steamed out to the scene of the wrecks, but from there was unable to assist because of the heavy seas. He then made his way to Chamber's Cove and with others lowered men by ropes in a wobbly bosun's chair down the abrupt cliffs to a ledge near sea level 200 feet down, where many survivors had found a hazardous haven. The survivors were hauled up in the chair.

Heavy seas crashing over the ledge made every move a scrape with death. Survivors were sometimes swept back into the seas, and the rescuers plunged into the freezing water to bring them back.

'Okay' Message Arrives Here Before Navy Tells of Disaster

A mysterious telegram to Laurence A. Weaver, of Atlanta, delivered last Saturday and signed by his son, L. A. Weaver Jr., was revealed yesterday as heartening news.

The elder Weaver, who moved to Atlanta about three years ago as southern representative of a group of national magazines, built a home at 2890 Howell Mill road.

Larry Weaver Jr. is one of three sons who attended eastern colleges and later went into business in New York city.

A year ago Larry Jr. enlisted in the Navy and has been a seaman first class on the Navy cargo carrier, the Pollux, one of the two ships that foundered on the gale-lashed coasts of Newfoundland, according to announcements in yesterday's newspapers.

The father and mother, a week ago, closed up their home on Howell Mill road, gave their servants a vacation, and went off to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for a month's vacation.

They arranged with Mrs. H. English Robinson, their next-door neighbor, to receive and forward any "important-looking" mail.

Last Saturday, a messenger boy tried to deliver a telegram to the unoccupied Weaver residence and Mrs. Robinson accepted the message.

"I opened the telegram," she said yesterday, "and it read merely—

"How are you—I am well—much love, Larry."

There was no indication of where the telegram had been sent from, except the usual "sans origin" dateline that the armed forces have set as a restriction to men on foreign duty.

"I didn't know where to find the Weavers," said Mrs. Robinson. "They had told me they would send me their address when they settled on some spot in Florida. They were going down there for a rest and they intended to look around until they found a spot to their liking."

"I hadn't heard from the Weavers," said Mrs. Robinson yesterday, "and the telegram sounded unimportant to me until I read in the newspapers yesterday that the Pollux had been sunk."

Larry Weaver, apparently, was among the 43 men saved, riding a swaying bosun's chair slung over a 200-foot cliff.

The Pollux had been dashed to pieces by wind and wave on the rocky coast of Newfoundland. The message was forwarded to Mr. and Mrs. Weaver yesterday.

A telegram in response to the message to them read:

"Please advise us date of disaster. But, they'll never know until they see Larry Weaver Jr. again."

HOW'S YOUR CLUTCH ACTION? Did you know that a clutch that is not operating properly can result in too-rapid tire wear? That's one of the things our tailored spring servicing catches.

WANT LONGER TIRE LIFE? When switching tires, do you remember the spare? If you'll let us switch your tires, working the spare in where it can best be used, each tire out of the five you have will be on the road only four-fifths as much as usual. Not result: Longer life from the same full set.

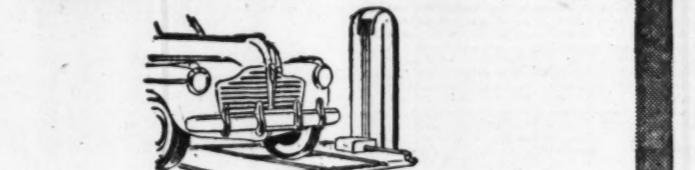

LICK-AND-A-PROMISE spring conditioning won't do this year, mister!

That's why Buick spring service is tailored to your own particular car.

We change oil and grease in the regular way, of course—we check batteries, cooling systems, wheel alignment and other routine matters.

Huge German Force Facing Entrapment

Strangulation of Nazis Near Leningrad Seen as Red Plan.

By EDDY GILMORE.

MOSCOW, Thursday, Feb. 26.—(P)—The Red army's strangulation of a German army trapped in the Staraya Russa area appeared today to be the first stage of a maneuver aimed at trapping all Nazi forces in the bloody northwestern corner of Russia.

"The German-Fascist forces are suffering great losses in manpower and equipment," the regular mid-night communiqué said. "During February 25 our troops continued to advance and occupied a number of populated places."

A Russian dispatch dated Staraya Russa—indicating Red army possession of the strategically-located town itself—said the most furious fighting was continuing and intimated that new developments were imminent, following the smashing of the 16th German field army and the slaughter of 12,000 Nazis in a bloody trap about Lake Ilmen, some 140 miles south of Leningrad.

Staraya Russa in peacetime is only a summer resort, but militarily it can serve as the springboard for many-phased operations.

Its capture means not only the thousands of Germans now being pummeled on the Leningrad outskirts; from this base operations are possible to cut off the Nazi armies north of Lake Ilmen to the Estonian shores of the Gulf of Finland.

River Junction. It is at the junction of three rivers—the Pella, Polistia and Liat—which will be highly usable for communications as soon as the thaw comes. Some 110 miles south and slightly west of Staraya Russa on the Lovat is the important Nazi position of Velikie Luki, itself endangered by Russian Red encirclement tactics.

The region was occupied late in August by the Germans and it was from there that they began to push forward the pincers which were intended to encircle Moscow from the north. The Nazi claimed they had crushed three Russian armies in the sector.

They planned to remain there all winter, setting up huge warehouses and installing large repair shops for mechanized vehicles. The encirclement announced officially early this morning was carried out by the armies of Lieutenant General P. A. Kurochkin, who for the first time was disclosed to have succeeded Marshal

The count said the President had expressed sympathy for the Polish position, and that he was "extremely glad to find he was even more sympathetic than I dared hope."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—(P)—The Inter-American Defense Board, expected to play a major role in providing convoys for hemisphere shipping, has been called to meet in Washington March 30. The Pan-American governing board announced the meeting time today.

The defense board, which will serve in effect as a hemisphere general staff, was authorized by the meeting of foreign ministers at Rio de Janeiro.

Here's How You Can Recognize The Blackout Signals Tonight

Sometime between 8 and 10 o'clock, air raid sirens and whistles will shriek throughout the area inside the city limits of Atlanta, in College Park, in Decatur and Druid Hills. Factory whistles, fire engine sirens, ambulance sirens, locomotive whistles and scores of other noise devices will begin the shrieking warning when word comes to the Signal Department via telephone from the First Interceptor Command, at Charleston.

The warning will be: A succession of eight-second blasts, followed by three seconds of silence. These blasts will be continued for two minutes. The all-clear signal will be: One long blast from all the signals. This will last for two minutes. Switch out the lights when the eight-second blasts start. Switch them on again when the long two-minute blast is sounded.

Atlanta Ready To Stage First Blackout Test Tonight

slowly as possible to keep it safely aloft.

The radio set on the observation plane will be attuned with the radio sets in the police cars on the ground and from the skies General Peyton will direct policemen on the alert, to spots where anyone seems to be deliberately ignoring the orders of the night.

"There's no need for everyone to be huddled in a group at home," said the general.

"Moving pictures and the regular night life of the city will continue as usual. The theaters will attend to the blackouts. There's no need for the audience to do anything but to sit there calmly looking at the picture. There's no need for anybody to stay home all evening, but:

"We don't want people racing out in the streets to see how the blackout is going on. The official

Blackout To Have Expert Criticism

Atlanta's first trial blackout tonight will have the expert criticism of Deputy Fire Chief Michael Conway, of New York, who spent weeks in London as an observer of actual air-raid conditions and who is familiar with all phases of raid emergencies, Mayor LeCraw was notified last night.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, of New York, resigned head of civilian defense, notified LeCraw that Conway will arrive this afternoon and will be here during the blackout. When the First Interceptor Command first granted authority for the practice, the mayor wired LaGuardia for expert criticism, and yesterday the New York mayor responded.

Don't Use Telephones Tonight, Civilians Urged

Civilians are urged from making unnecessary telephone calls during the blackout planned for tonight, because of the vital need for keeping lines open for the military and civilian defense agencies, telephone officials said.

The city hall switchboard will be open tonight, keeping defense headquarters in touch with the outside world during the blackout.

forces—the air wardens and their helpers will attend to that. Just stay where you are when the signals sound and the lights go out."

More than 2,000 special police will be patrolling the streets to guard against any burglars or holdup men staging some advantageous tricks of their trade while the city is blacked out. Special firemen will be on duty, practicing for any possible genuine raid by the enemy in the future.

Cars Must Blackout

Citizens from the county areas are expressly requested not to drive into town to see how the show is coming.

Automobiles on the street when the signals sound must pull over to the curbs, douse their lights and await the all-clear signal.

Another source of innumerable telephone calls was handled in this fashion by the general:

"Citizens in Druid Hills want to know their status in this blackout. Those citizens whose homes are in DeKalb county, but also inside the city limits of Atlanta, are required to blackout just as any other resident of the city. The mere fact that all of DeKalb county is not joining in this blackout doesn't relieve those citizens who are inside the city limits."

Benton's request to residents of Fulton county to join as far as is practicable in the blackout was directed to those who will hear the air raid warning sounded to them over their radios.

"It will be a simple matter," said Senior Warden Benton, "for the county citizens to snap off their lights or adjust their shades when the signal sounds on their radio. They might not hear whistles or sirens in the neighborhood, but they can hear the radio signals. It will be good practice for them—they're going to have to do a similar job later on, so they might as well learn what it's all about."

Officers from the Third Interceptor Command headquarters at Charleston will be in Atlanta to observe the test. They will ride in observation planes, like the mayor and the general. So that's all, until tonight—An eight-second blast on a lot of whistles—Get off the streets. But try to figure out a system so you'll get a load of what the general and the mayor will bellow through the loudspeaker. The mayor promises to make it worthwhile.

● The name is Lennox—Peggy Lennox. She's blonde. She's pretty. She may not look the part of a trainer of fighting men, but—She is one of the few women pilots qualified to give instruction in the CAA flight training program. And the records at Randolph and Pensacola of the men who learned to fly from Peggy show she's doing a man-sized job of it. She's turned out pilots for the Army... for the Navy. Peggy is loyal to both arms of the service. Her only favorite is the favorite in every branch of the service—Camel cigarettes. She says: "They're milder in every way."

'Too Much Beating of Prisoners,' Federal Judge Complains in Ordering Probe

Ran Into an Auto, Bondsman Says of His Hospitalized Ward

An immediate probe into why an undersized federal prisoner who left the Old Postoffice building in good condition, in custody of his bondsman and the bondsman's employee, allegedly arrived within police headquarters bleeding profusely, was ordered yesterday by United States District Judge E. Marvin Underwood.

The bondsman, Roy E. House, and his companion, Bill Mashburn, a former policeman, told Judge Underwood the prisoner, Herman Logan, ran into an automobile Tuesday afternoon while trying to escape, but Logan insisted House had struck him repeatedly while Mashburn held him in the alleyway off Butler street at police headquarters.

"There has been too much beating up of prisoners," Judge Underwood declared. "This man is in the custody of the United States court, and I intend that all the facts about his condition, and how it came about, shall be developed."

Assistant District Attorney Ellis Mundy, summoned by Judge Underwood, took charge of the investigation.

Logan, his clothing bloodstained and his lower lip so badly cut it was sutured at Grady hospital, testified his cries brought policemen into the alleyway. Even then, he insisted, House demurred to his being taken to the hospital, saying, "Let the little — — — bleed."

The somewhat voluble explanations of House and Mashburn were cut short by Judge Underwood. They towered above the prisoner, who stands five feet, five inches and weighs 140 pounds, as they faced the bench.

Logan was under $500 bail, for which a bond had been signed last October 14 by House, on a charge of violating the interstate automobile laws. House and Mashburn sought to surrender him Tuesday afternoon to United States Commissioner David J. Meyerhardt, but were told that this must be done in open federal court.

As the trio left the building, Logan broke from their grasp, and ran to Forsyth and Marietta streets, where he was caught by a pedestrian, Fitzhugh Knox Jr., an insurance salesman. House and Mashburn then took Logan to police headquarters in House's automobile.

Logan said he had been working on a TVA electric project at Hiwassee, and was going to Alabama to visit his family before facing trial in federal court here on March 11.

Augusta Warns Gamblers To End Activities

City To Enforce Anti-Gambling Laws, Officers Say.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Gamblers who have been operating here under a system of paying regular monthly fines, were warned today that their operations must cease and that anti-gambling laws would be strictly enforced.

John B. Kennedy, safety commissioner, said the method under which the gamblers had been conducting business, was out and that he would appoint a special police squad to clear the city of those violating the law.

The fining system drew sharp criticism recently from city court Solicitor W. Inman Curry, head of the Cracker party. He said he told the Richmond county grand jury the "arrangement" made in assessing regular fines "is wrong under the law" and "contrary to good morals."

Curry said then that the fining method was an experiment which those responsible "thought would bring about an improvement in law enforcement."

The grand jury today publicly commended Kennedy and Curry for their attitude and recommended the addition of two more deputies to aid in cleaning up vice conditions in the county.

School Will Show Film of Bombing

A motion picture of the bombing of Nottingham, England, will be shown at North Fulton High school tomorrow and Saturday for the benefit of the Buckhead Civilian Defense committee. Twenty minutes long, the film will be shown continuously from 7:30 to 11 o'clock tomorrow and Saturday nights. It graphically portrays the passiveness and indifference of the people prior to the actual raid, the hurried preparations when the first warning is given; and the speed with which the different departments are organized for performing their specific duties.

Admission is 50 cents. The funds will be used for civilian defense activity in district 4, the Buckhead area, including 42 square miles of territory and a population of 70,000 people living in 12,000 homes.

at the COURTHOUSE

George Allen Maddox, chief probation officer of Fulton county, went to the Georgia Baptist hospital yesterday for an appendicitis operation.

Another of the prisoners who escaped recently from the detention cell in the basement of the courthouse has been arrested, according to a message received by Fulton County Sheriff J. M. Mount from the West Greenville, S. C. police. He is Arvil Meeks, sentenced to serve 12 months on a larceny charge. Deputy Sheriff John Askea left for West Greenville last night with extradition papers to bring him back. Two other escaped prisoners are still at large.

Beginning Monday, both division of the Fulton criminal court will open at 9 o'clock instead of 10, in order that city and county police officers will not have to spend so much of the day in court as witnesses. When war time went into effect, opening of the courts was put up an hour.

At the City Hall

Police Chief Hornsby may miss Atlanta's first trial blackout tonight. Yesterday illness forced him to leave his desk and go to his home at 1157 Oakland drive, South West.

Only routine matters were considered yesterday at the regular meeting of the Grady hospital board of trustees, Dr. J. Moss Beeler, superintendent of Grady, said.

Because of the blackout tonight, city council's police committee has postponed tonight's scheduled session and will meet at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night at police station. Only routine matters are slated for study, according to Lieutenant C. D. Hardeman, committee secretary.

Mayor LeCraw, Councilman James E. Jackson Jr. and W. Zode Smith, general manager of waterworks, yesterday were designated by city council's water committee as a subcommittee to complete details of arrangements to supply water to the giant Bell bomber plant near Marietta. The group will confer with company officials and find out just exactly what is expected of the city and will file recommendations with the mayor and council.

Near Fist Fight Follows Hearing

A fist fight was narrowly averted in the city hall yesterday after city council's ordinance committee completed a public hearing on a proposal to add four citizen members to the Atlanta beauty board before a proposal to increase prices for services from 12-1-2 to 15 per cent is considered.

Luther Alverson, attorney and member of the beauty board, and C. Dorsey Livey, attorney and part owner of a beauty shop, rushed each other in the second floor corridor just as they emerged from the hearing. They were parted by friends, and both subsequently said it was all a misunderstanding.

The argument began when Alverson is said to have complained that some owners do not have operators' licenses, but their operators do. Alverson contended that those working in the shop as owners or as other employees should have them.

An Open Letter to Tire Thieves

Tire theft has risen to new heights.

This is not just petty larceny any more.

It is a direct stab-in-the-back at American transportation which is hand-in-hand with vital American production.

The tire thief today is not merely robbing some luckless motorist of his rubber

—he may be keeping a skilled bomber mechanic off the job for hours

—he may be putting a truck loaded with war materials off schedule

—he may be interrupting a vital link in a vital phase of war production.

For want of a tire the car was lost; for want of a car the man was lost; for want of a man the job was lost; for want of the job, the bomber was lost; for want of the bomber the battle was lost.

For a few paltry dollars, the tire thief is putting himself on the enemy's side.

He is as obnoxious as a fifth columnist, as despicable as a Benedict Arnold —for tire stealing today is sabotage just as surely as smashing the control panel on a battleship.

You, with the tire-snatching tools—before you plan your next job, will you look up at Old Glory flying so grandly in the breeze, needing every son on her side in her fight for life?

Will you help the U. S. A., or will you help sabotage the U. S. A.?

Perhaps even a greater morale breaker and sabotage agent is the person who receives stolen tires and property for resale. He is the incentive, the "fence," the cover, for the thief. And remember, Mr. Tire Thief, your "fence" makes the money—not you!

The bright spot is that the true American motorist will refuse to buy any tire or tires unless he can prove clear title to them—new tires or secondhand. The motorist who does rebuy "stolen" tires, knowingly or unknowingly, is an accessory to a crime of sabotage!

NYA and CCC Contribute 'Plenty' To Victory Effort

A one-word answer to the recently raised question, "What are the NYA and CCC doing for the national war effort?" was obtained yesterday in a review of their work. The answer is: "Plenty!"

Twelve of the 28 CCC camps in Georgia have been moved to military reservations where they are operating 100 per cent on indispensable tasks connected with the Army. The remaining 16 camps devote at least 25 per cent of their efforts to direct war projects—and when Army requests already filed are granted in full it will be necessary somehow to create three more CCC camps than now exist here to get the work done.

As for the NYA, it is training young people in radio, welding, sheet metal working, power sewing, machine shop operation, first aid, aviation and similar useful work and sending them to aircraft, shipbuilding and precision instrument plants and to the Navy, Army, Maritime Commission and other direct war preparation spots. It is likewise building for the future needs.

Here are detailed statements of their accomplishments:

14,000 Georgia Youths Get NYA Help

Approximately 5,000 out-of-school Georgia youths are receiving work experience and training at National Youth Administration projects in the state. The projects are in war industries, while 9,000 more are receiving part time employment to enable them to remain in high school or college.

Boys and girls in the shops, on the out-of-school program, are producing vitally needed goods for the armed services while at the same time becoming "shop-broken" and ready to step into production lines of war industries. High school and college students perform useful work for their institutions in order to earn small sums which purchase the necessities essential to their continuing in school.

Valuable to Country.

"We face a great problem of labor and military supply in America," Boisteuillet Jones, state administrator, said, "in finding 23 million new workers for industry and three of four million new men for the armed services. One threat runs through both problems, however—armies and navies today are highly mechanized, and the more mechanized, the more valuable a youth has, the more valuable he is to his country wherever he serves."

The students the NYA is assisting to continue their education will in many cases be the technicians who will be industry's key men and the officers who will command the soldiers, sailors and marines, since war calls for all the brainpower and skills we can muster. Sheer manpower alone will not win for us.

The out-of-school youths, in turn, will be America's industrial soldiers who will fight the battle of production. These young people, who are obtaining "on-the-job" experience in machine shop, welding, sheet metal, radio, power sewing and similar fields, are stepping from NYA projects into the war industries at an increasing faster rate.

Must Help Produce.

"Youths are going from our shops by the thousands into aircraft, shipbuilding, machine shops, precision instrument plants, naval bases, the Maritime Commission, Army, Navy and other all-important spots in our war effort," Jones said. "We cannot continue to have our soldiers killed because of insufficient equipment; we must attain overwhelming superiority in material, and these youths must help produce it in our factories if America is to be a highly productive arsenal of democracy. In short, we must produce or die."

About half the 5,000 out-of-school young people are girls, Jones explained. Of the remaining 2,500 boys, 80 per cent are below draft age, but within industry's age limits. Of the 500 boys within draft age, many are physically unfit for military service, but can meet requirements for war industries after obtaining enough work experience. Although many of these 500 are being drafted daily and many more are volunteering for the armed services, the skills they have developed are "just so much velvet to themselves and the military branch," Jones said. "I'd like to point out two more things in this connection," the administrator asserted. "First, our health program is putting thousands of young people in shape to fight or produce; second, that we are co-operating to the hilt with all military recruiting services, because we think that every boy who can qualify belongs in the armed services."

CCC Contributes To Victory Efforts

There are 28 Civilian Conservation Corps camps in Georgia manned by an average of 160 men each, 12 of these camps are working on military reservations; five at Fort Benning, two at Camp Wheeler, one at Fort Oglethorpe, three at Camp Stewart, and one at Georgia Air Depot, West Point. In the accomplishment of the projects on these reservations so vital to efficient training of troops, the CCC has constructed airplane landing fields, parachute landing fields, sanitation systems, radio stations, fire towers, camping grounds, storehouses, canals, erosion control dams, telephone lines, roads, trails and bridges, and profitably spent thousands of man-hours in the protection of the nation's forests against fire and disease.

From two sawmills operated by CCC enrollees at Fort Benning, and one at Camp Stewart, the products are used in the construction and maintenance of the Post buildings.

15 Per Cent of Draft Age.

Of the approximately 4,500 men in CCC camps in Georgia, approximately 15 per cent are of draft age and are subject to call for duty in the armed forces.

As far back as 1933 boys of the Civilian Conservation Corps received training that is very valuable to those now in the armed forces, although little attention was given at that time to the instruction of men in national defense activities. It was then, and continues to be, essential for the efficient operation of the projects to train men in the operation of tractors, power shovels, motor vehicles and air compressors, as well as in the handling of explosives, cooking and baking, and in many other vocations concomitant with the type of project on which they are working. Many of the tanks, guns and armored vehicles now in operation are piloted by former CCC trained men. Many of the long convoys of trucks so frequently seen and efficiently operated on the highways today, are being driven by former CCC lads.

Classes are conducted for courses in motor vehicle mechanics, electricity, carpentry, shipfitters helpers (operated at the request of the Navy), metal working, welding, radio operators, clerks and typists, cooks and bakers and high explosive handlers.

Streaking through the stratosphere, annihilating the enemy, are flying fortress, dive bombers and pursuit planes, at the controls of some of which are former CCC men, whose training in motor mechanics and engineering furnished at the camps has provided them with backgrounds that assisted them materially in earning their wings.

In pre-Pearl Harbor days the CCC operated its own radio network and trained its operators. The urgent need to use the wavelength on which they broadcast, for military purposes, rendered it necessary to withdraw this training. However, schools for radio operators continue to furnish men for the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and the Coast Guard.

Must Pass Tests. To qualify as handlers of explosives men must successfully pass tests and be certified by representatives of the Federal Bureau of Mines or competent representatives of the state or federal government who are experts in handling high explosives.

Every man in the CCC is given the standard first aid course, and those qualifying are given the first aid instructors' courses, the instructors for which are furnished by the American Red Cross.

The demand for trained personnel has been so great that positions are offered and accepted by a large percentage of the boys previous to the completion of the prescribed course at the CCC camps.

Irwin Given Death Verdict In Bibb Court

Former Kentuckian Convicted of Slaying Farmer.

MACON, Ga., Feb. 25.—Isaac Irwin, 29, former Kentuckian, was sentenced to die in the electric chair March 20 for the slaying of John Nick Perdue, 60-year-old farmer.

He was convicted late yesterday in Bibb superior court and Judge A. M. Anderson immediately pronounced sentence.

Irwin was arrested a few days after the bodies of Perdue and his wife were found in their home early on the morning of February 1.

In an unsworn statement to the jury, Irwin said he spent the night at the Perdue home because the lights of his truck went out. He testified that Perdue attempted to persuade him to leave another farm and work for him. He said Perdue became angered when he refused and attacked him with a chair. He shot the farmer, he said, when the latter pointed a gun at him and threatened to kill him.

Mrs. Perdue was shot, he testified, when she approached him with a gun as he ran toward the front of the house to leave.

Jack Whiting's Visit Here Is of Local and State Interest

● ● ● ATLANTANS AND GEORGIANS have more than passing interest in Jack Whiting's arrival here when he comes to portray a prominent role in "Arsenic and Old Lace." The play will be presented at the Erlanger theater on March 10 and 11, with a cast said to be every bit as good as that appearing in the New York production. Jack is the brother of Pete Whiting, whose wife, Louise Whiting, is city editor of the Albany (Ga.) Herald, and they are truly important people in Albany. Jack will be accompanied by his wife, the former Beth Sully.

Beth Whiting is the daughter of Dan Sully, the man who gained national fame as the "Cotton King." She is the mother of Douglas Fairbanks Jr., the moving picture star. She married Douglas Fairbanks Sr. previous to her marriage to Jack and the junior Douglas is her only son. Beth is a close friend of Mrs. Howell Jackson, who will greet her cordially when she accompanies her husband to Atlanta.

Jack and Beth frequently visit Pete and Louise in Albany and made a favorable impression upon Albanians because of their engaging personality and gracious manner. Jack plays the role of the dramatic critic of a newspaper in the play "Arsenic and Old Lace." He is well known on Broadway and has appeared in many stage successes.

Thirty recreation rooms at Fort McPherson are still sorely in need of furnishings to help make them bright and attractive. If you have lamps, rugs, vases, smoking stands, or games you would like to contribute, call Mrs. Norman Sharp, chairman of the victory emergency committee, or take them to Iris Lee at Davison-Paxon's, where they will be collected and taken to the fort.

● ● ● SINCE TIME immemorial there probably never has been a wedding without some mishap occurring to throw things into a general state of distraction. And no exception is that of pretty Claire Johnson and Earle Yancey Jr., which takes place today.

Now, nothing is dearer to a bride-elect's heart than the lovely items making up her trousseau. These are bought with particular care, unlimited time and patience being consumed in the trying process of purchasing.

So, when the home of Claire's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Johnson, recently caught fire, it was a double tragedy, for a large portion of her trousseau was badly damaged. Which meant that Claire, who was determined not to be a trousseauless bride, had to shop all over again!

Only a bride-elect as inherently good-natured as Claire could have maintained the admirable calmness under such a difficulty as she has demonstrated. For such a catastrophe would try even the proverbial patience of Job.

Not so Claire. Between parties and a thousand and one last-minute chores, she has managed, with the aid of her mother, to duplicate practically all of her loss!

● ● ● THE FAVORITE blackles over the tea cups concerns a matron who went to a defense meeting. Conversation turned to this evening's blackout, various ones explaining how they intended to darken their homes.

Chirruped the heroine: "My husband wants to blackout our whole house, but I told him that was silly. So he said that certainly the kitchen windows should be covered because a meal might be in progress when the signal sounded. I told him that was even sillier. After all, the kitchen is at the rear of the house, and nobody would ever see the lights burning from the front!"

● ● ● A LOVELY photograph of Louise Butler, of Ojai, Cal., was recently published in the Boston Herald, along with those of several other belles who attended the recent waltz party held at the Somerset hotel in Boston. The pretty Wellesley student was pictured in the becoming satin gown and black lace mantilla which she wore to the ball. Louise, you recall, made a host of friends here when she visited Catherine Tift during the Christmas holidays. Catherine, who is a student at Sweet Briar, met Louise when the pretty Atlanta was on a western tour several years ago.

Judy Garland Plays Talent Scout; Picks a Winner for M. G. M.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 25.—(INS) Well, I always say there is no harm in trying. Buddy De Sylva believes that Helen Hayes will accept his offer to star in "Miss Appleby Gets Her Answer" when she reads the script. I can't be as optimistic, for I talked with Helen when I was in New York and she said: "The little note I wrote you some years ago still stands. There are other girls more glamorous, and the screen is not for me." Yet I must say "Miss Appleby Gets Her Answer," an original by Val Burton, would be a wonderful story for Helen or any actress of her caliber.

The "Appleby" story deals with the Red Cross during the last war. Miss Appleby puts her name in a Red Cross kit with a note. A young soldier gets it in the present war and believing the sender is young, answers the note. She promotes a romance with him and her niece.

When Judy Garland was in New York she saw "Pal Joey," and then went around sounding like a press agent about young Gene Kelly. When she came back home she kept on raving about how wonderful he would be for pictures. Apparently her M-G-M bosses have decided that Judy is an A-1 talent scout—for not only have they signed him on a term contract but Gene is handed to Judy for the male lead opposite her in "Big Time." This song and dance story about the good old days of vaudeville gets going right away at Culver City with Arthur Freed at the helm.

Binnie Barnes loves to tell about the days when she (an English gal) passed herself off as "Texas Binnie" and did a rope twirling act in a big show in the London music halls. In spite of her two-gun talents, Binnie has never appeared in a western picture—that is, she hadn't until Boss Herbert Yates decided to team her with John Wayne in "In Old California." This is a yarn of the days before and during the gold rush, and for the first time on the screen Binnie will play a shoot-'em-up gal and do all her rope tricks as well. J. Robert Bren and G. W. Atwater wrote the story and William McGann will produce.

By Louella O. Parsons

A LINE OR TWO: Bob Taylor is hobbling around with a wrenched ankle following the fight scene with George Sanders on the set of "Her Cardboard Lover."

The New Yorkers Shiver At Dangers Confronting Inhabitants of West Coast

By Damon Runyon.

We must advise the folks in Los Angeles that many New Yorkers seem to look on them in the light of Spartans for continuing to infest that beautiful region. These New Yorkers apparently have the idea that life goes on there under the most precarious conditions.

When we visited our old haunts on Broadway Saturday, the first day of our return from the Pacific coast, we saw guys nudge one another and indicate us and we heard a mutter: "He's just back from Los Angeles."

"How about those blackouts?" A crowd gathered to listen to our remarks, but as truth compelled us to state that we had seen but two blackouts, one of them a mere warm-up and the other lasting little longer than it takes you to strike and blow out a match, our audience speedily diminished. We could see that from heroic proportions we shrank in their eyes to a size where we could have ridden a Mouse around the corner, as Bugs Baer says.

After that we became slightly less veracious with the inquiring customers. We did not reply directly to their questions, even when some asked about the bombs. But just pursued our lips and shook our head solemnly. Thus no listener could go into court and swear that we actually said anything about the hazards of the west coast and if he departed with the impression that what we had endured was too distressing to talk about, it was not our fault, was it?

The New Yorkers were surprised when we told them that there is more talk of the war here than in Los Angeles, which is a fact. The New Yorkers have no other topic of conversation. In Los Angeles the chatter sometimes turns to the weather, though we suspect that this is from force of habit. The New Yorkers wanted to know what the Angelenos who employed Japanese gardeners and houseworkers had done about that and if those California people do not think they will ever be disturbed by the enemy.

On the last point we could be somewhat specific. We know some citizens of Los Angeles who doubt that the skibbles will ever be able to make an effective demonstration against the coast and who deprecate the very suggestion as a knock to business. But we know a great many more who are fully aware of the probability of raids and who need no advice from Johnny-come-latelys to warn them of their danger. What they need is greater activity in defense measures on the part of the government.

The same thing might be said of New York city and other places along the eastern coast. There is no reason to assume that the enemy will not attempt some raiding here, though many New Yorkers are just as unwilling to credit that idea as those Southern Californians who dislike the suggestion that one of these nights the skibbles may be blasting at the defense plants out there. If you ask us, both the east and west coasts are still living in a fool's paradise, but please do not mention that we said this, as we do not care to get a reputation as an alarmist.

I took my cousin, Mrs. Joseph Alsop, to see the exhibits of drawings and paintings on defense subjects, and then we went through some of the early Italian rooms. I found that she enjoyed the carving in wood of the Madonna kneeling before the Child, as much as I did. We saw a few of the early Dutch paintings, also, and had a glimpse of the different courts with their display of flowers and fountains. I came away feeling a real gratitude that such a collection has been given to the nation, and that so many people seem to be enjoying it.

I still have a good many commitments made during the past few months for various speeches and engagements. There are a good many personal things, however, which I ought to have done and which I must now do, such as the distribution of belongings in the New York houses to various children. This means actually getting things packed and shipped in anticipation of the final disposal of these houses, in which we have lived for a good many years. On the whole, I do not think my new-found leisure is going to be empty of occupation.

Complete with ostrich feather boa, Karen Norris models an authentic costume worn by Mrs. William McKinley when her husband was President. On the right is Carroll Byrd as Molly Pitcher. The apron, you remember, held quite a bit of gunpowder. These costumes are a part of a collection copied from the styles worn by famous women who figured prominently in the history of the United States. This "Women of Destiny" collection is being shown at Davison-Paxon's this week.

MY DAY: Ways of Spending New-Found Leisure

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

NEW YORK CITY, Tuesday.—I had my first press conference back in the White House yesterday and, quite obviously, the girls asked me how I liked my return to private life! It made me add up what really has been different in the past few days. I discovered: 1, I have really spent several hours reading; 2, I walked for an hour Sunday morning; 3, I spent an hour in the National Art Gallery Sunday afternoon.

If you are in Washington, don't fail to go to this gallery. You can't possibly see the 90 galleries all at once, but a little at a time refreshes the spirit. Most inspiring is the fact that on a Sunday the place was crowded with men in uniform, young people, old people and children.

I took my cousin, Mrs. Joseph Alsop, to see the exhibits of drawings and paintings on defense subjects, and then we went through some of the early Italian rooms. I found that she enjoyed the carving in wood of the Madonna kneeling before the Child, as much as I did. ## Strict Sugar Rationing Should Raise Nation's Health

By Dr. William Brady.

The "rationing" of sugar imposed on the public so far is highly desirable, only it is too moderate. It would be far better for everybody's health, efficiency, morale or life if by government regulation or otherwise the per capita consumption of sugar in the United States were reduced at least half.

It is not that sugar is in any way unwholesome or undesirable food. It is excellent food for everybody, especially for children who play as hard as children should, and for people who do honest physical work, and for athletes or those who must put forth much muscular effort or undergo physical strain or endurance.

The reason why a more rigid rationing of sugar would be a blessing in this country is simply this: Most people today derive more than half of their daily calories from white flour and white sugar. A hundred years ago most people derived more than half of their calories from whole wheat flour and natural brown (unrefined) sugar and molasses. But the people a hundred years ago got in their whole wheat flour and natural sugar and molasses about 500 inter-

Women can Work! Women can Win!

This is everybody's war—Civilians' as well as Soldiers', women's as well as men's. And women are answering the challenge . . . women twenty-five years better prepared by business training and experience than in the last war. Chief among the organizations training women for maximum usefulness on the Home Front is the American Women's Voluntary Services. It functions in peace as well as war, and was organized in Atlanta as early as last June, months before Pearl Harbor. Since then it has signed up more than 4,000 Atlanta women, trained them in services vital to defense. The spirit of the A. W. V. S. and the gallant women wholeheartedly giving their time and effort to it seems to us to be expressed in this pledge, found in the diary of a young American soldier killed in the last war:

"America must win this war. Therefore, I will work, I will sacrifice, I will endure, I will fight cheerfully and do my utmost, as if the issue of the whole struggle depended on me alone."

Connie Ryan Steals Show In Giant Drill

Former Cracker Is Great in Lengthy Fielding Practice Session.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Young Connie Ryan, rookie second baseman from Atlanta, stole the spotlight at the New York Giants' spring training camp today. The $35,000 infielder, a vital cog in the revamped inner defense of the Giants, put on a show which fulfilled his advance notices in a lengthy fielding drill.

RYAN.

The session was the longest to date, with much time being devoted to batting practice. Johnny Mize, Hank Danning, Babe Barna and Hank Leiber hit some terrific drives, but none cleared the fence.

General Manager Bill Terry revealed that the club and Shortstop Billy Jurges are still far apart on the matter of salary.

NEW YORK PLANS.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees, who had announced that Buddy Hassett would be his first baseman this season, came up with a mild surprise today when he ordered another first sacker, Ed (Levy) Whitner, into camp. Whitner batted .256 in 23 games with Newark last season.

Outfielder George Stainback, transferred from the Kansas City farm exchange for Pitcher George Washburn and Outfielder Frenchy Bardagaray, signed his contract and participated in today's workout with a skeleton squad.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 25.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals have contract trouble—and lots of it. Only eight of the team's 16 infielders have signed for the coming season, Branch Rickey disclosed today.

Rickey named Frank Crespi, second baseman, as the team's most serious problem. Crespi, who lives in St. Louis, said he deserved more money than he had been offered.

Also outside the fold are Johnny Hopp, Eddie Lake, Martin Marion, Enos Slaughter and Coaker Trippe, all of whom are in training.

MIKE KREIVICH SIGNS. ANAHEIM, Cal., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Outfielder Mike Kreivich handled his signed contract to Connie Mack today, leaving the Athletics with only two holdouts—First Baseman Dick Siebert and Outfielder Bob Johnson.

TIGERS START BLASTING. LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 25.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers got down today to the most interesting phase of the game to bat players—batting practice.

Joe Heving, 37-year-old relief pitcher, agreed to terms today and probably will arrive before the weekend.

WALTER COOPER OKAY. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Manager Billy Southworth was happy today over the first important discovery of the St. Louis Cardinals' spring training season.

All in The Game BY JACK TROY

N. Y. U.'s Through War and the severance of what playfully was called intercollegiate football at New York University are unrelated. Just as unrelated as intercollegiate football and New York University. The Violets aren't calling it off for the duration. They're through for good.

Last season's results may finally have influenced the board. N. Y. U. beat Lafayette and some other small school and then took seven straight beatings. Horrible beatings. The Violets played a big league schedule, including Texas A. and M., Holy Cross, Penn State, Syracuse, Missouri, Tulane and Fordham.

There was an ugly rumor once that N. Y. U. was growing tired of football when Mal Stevens was hired as coach.

Dr. Stevens, however, was credited with pulling a fine psychological stunt to beat Georgia in Wallace Butts' first year as head coach. On the Monday prior to the game he addressed the football writers of greater New York at their weekly gathering in Toots Shor's and charged Georgia with being a dirty football team. He went on to say his team would finish anything Georgia cared to start.

It probably was a smart thing to do. He got the Georgia coaches on the defensive. They instructed the players to be overly cautious. And so, during the entire first half the Bulldogs leaned over backwards to discount Stevens' charge.

Led by the school heavyweight champion, the Violets provoked a fight at half-time, and in the second half Georgia rallied and came within a point of tying the game at the Polo Grounds.

They probably would have won if they had kept their minds on football instead of trying to be so fair to N. Y. U. in the first half. It was a smart psychological trick and enabled Stevens to beat Georgia once. When he was at Yale the Bulldogs beat him five times.

No Humpty Dumpty What goes up must come down. The law of gravity, you know. Thus Cornelius Warmerdam's ability to fall from a height of more than 15 feet, landing on portside, backside, etc., without suffering injury, is equally as amazing as his ability to vault 15 feet, 7 3-4 inches.

Babies have fallen out of second-story windows and come up smiling. This is an example of relaxation. In the case of Warmerdam, it's controlled relaxation, plus knowing how.

Warmerdam has dropped from the height of a second-story window a total of 15 times. And he doesn't always hit on his feet. And when he does they merely cushion the fall. But he's never hurt because he knows how to fall.

This business of knowing how is important in athletics. Modern baseball players spend little time in a sliding pit. And now and then it results in serious consequences when a player hits the dirt. Not many years back the Crackers lost half an infield on the verge of a new season because of awkward slides. Lester Burge suffered a broken thumb and Tom Hafez cracked an ankle bone.

Take the great base stealers—Ty Cobb, Max Carey, Hazen Cuyler and others. They never lost any time from the game through injuries incurred in sliding. They knew how.

Football players spend a lot of time tackling a dummy and practicing live tackling in a broken field to learn the knack of escaping injury from a pair of churning knees.

Now and again a sandlot player dies because of a broken neck or injured back . . . but football is in no way to blame. No youngster should be allowed to play without proper supervision. Once he learns how to protect himself, chances of injury are negligible.

In Short Frank Corrigan, one of the city's top tennis boosters, is now one of us. He's a solicitor in the advertising department. Frank recently had lunch with Holcombe Ward, of the U. S. L. T. A., in New York, and Ward is hopeful tennis will have a prominent part in the Hale America program. He hopes men like Russell Bobbitt, at Fort Knox, and other players now in camps are assigned to duty as instructors. This would be a fine role for Bitsy Grant.

Vernon Brown, captain of the 1934 Georgia Tech tennis team, is now Lieutenant Brown, United States Army. He leaves this weekend for his new station, which is unannounced.

Charles C. Peterson, famed expert, writes that he is touring the camps teaching the boys to shoot straight in billiards. . . . He has more than 100 camps in his itinerary. . . . And Lawson General hospital and Georgia Tech, as well.

Card from Jimmy Gillespie, United Artists, arrived from Montreal, Canada, where it was five above zero and the principal sports skiing and ice skating. And the only thing to drink: cold beer.

Fred Crawford, Livingstone, Luke Barnes Inducted Here

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY. The Army got three well-known athletes yesterday. Freddie Crawford, ex-Duke All-American football player; Luke Barnes, one of the famous Atlanta golfing brothers, and Willie Livingstone, assistant golf pro at Piedmont park, were inducted at Fort McPherson.

Crawford, who made most All-American teams his senior year at Duke, in 1933, was one of the greatest tackles Wallace Wade ever produced. He attended McCallie school in Chattanooga before entering Duke.

Atlanta football fans will remember him by his great play that November day in 1933 when Georgia Tech upset a Rose Bowl-bound Duke team, 6 to 0.

Crawford played professional football with the Chicago Bears and had a brief fling in the movies before coming to Atlanta to take a responsible position with Sears-Roebuck.

Barnes, a constant threat in the National Public Links tournament, was co-medalist in that tournament a couple of years ago. He is a brother of Tommy, present Georgia state champion. Charley Yates and Gene Gaillard are other famous Atlanta golfers now in the service.

Livingstone formerly was assistant professional at the Capital City Club under Howard Beckitt. He is the son of Jimmy Livingstone, pro at Ingleside.

Lawson Nips Favored Nehi In State Meet

Crackers Play Silvertown in Feature Game Tonight at 10 O'Clock.

By BERT PRATHER. Lawson General Hospital's batting crew of soldier basketball players blasted the State Independent Basketball Tournament wide open last night at Warren Sports Arena when they outplayed the top-seeded Nehi Reds, of Columbus, all the way to win by a 46-to-39 score.

The Soldiers, led by galloping Dick Douthat, grabbed the lead shortly after the opening tip-off, and from then on out they were in the van wagon to stay. They led at halftime, 23 to 21. At one time in the second half, the Lawson crew held a 44-to-25 advantage. Douthat's 15 points was high for the winners. Big Silly Lasseter clicked through 20 points for the Reds. The win placed Lawson in the quarter-final round against the Atlanta Aces.

WALTHOUR GIRLS WIN. In the opener, John McCarley's second-seeded Walthour & Hood girls advanced to the semi-finals of the women's division by whipping Piedmont College, 29 to 22, in a well-played contest. Bama Conner led the winning offensive with 11 points, while Edna Allen topped Piedmont with 13 counters.

The Piedmont College boys, coached by Ralph King, were more fortunate, tripping General Shoe, 54 to 37, to enter the quarter-finals in the top bracket, where they will next encounter the winner of the Toccoa-Georgia Evening College battle scheduled for tonight.

Georgia Tech Bees staged a brilliant second-half rally to nip Central Cafe, 38 to 29, in one of the most thrilling games ever staged in this annual meet. Behind 16 to 13 at intermission, the Bees, who were being handled by Bobby Dodd in the absence of Coach Claude Bond, swung into the final lap with full steam ahead. Their ramblant attack swept the smooth Central defense aside and in the final two minutes they were pulling away. Junior Anderson, towering center, was the sparkplug of the winning attack with 15 points. Charley Scruggs' 10 was next high.

Alabama Slight Choice Over Tech; Vols Due To Rout Georgia

ON THE LINE

With Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—(INS)—Sportin' around: The only untamed heavyweight now left in the fight picture, so far as Louis' challengers are concerned, is Melio Bettina. . . . It might not be such a bad idea, but one can hardly expect Louis to keep on fighting Bob Pastor, who bobs up surprisingly well every other year or so by flogging some hopeful ditty. Bettina is unbeaten as a heavyweight and is about to go in the Army. A bout with Louis might not send him into the Army in especially good shape, but the money he'd make out of it would keep him folks for a long time. Another prospect on the distant horizon: Tami Mauriello.

Speaking of the Army, you can't throw a rock in the adjacent Second Corps Area without hitting a first-class athlete. There are, for instance, Private Dave Smuckler, called by Pop Warner "the greatest fullback I ever saw!" Private Vic Ghezzi, P. G. A. champion, Private (F. C.) Ed "Porky" Oliver, golf hero of the "15 minutes too soon" adventure; Private Jim Turnesa, of the Golfing Turnesas; Lieutenant Alva Kelley, all-eastern end for Cornell's great team of two years ago; Private Frank Foley, Harvard's quarterback of 1937 and 1938; and a host of others, including a fair-to-middle athlete named Private J. L. Barrow.

This is an era of streaks—Louis' 25 straight, Ray Robinson's 117 straight, DiMaggio's 56 hitting games, Alsab's 10-in-a-row as a two-year-old, Ben Hogan's feat of finishing in the money 50-odd times in succession, the New York Rangers' 94 scoring games, etc., etc. Now comes track. Les MacMittell has won 19 straight one-mile races, a pretty big order. But how about Joseph Gregory Rice, the barrel-chested little guy who ran for Notre Dame, and who is now apparently running for momentum's sake?

Rice will be out after his 43rd straight victory Saturday night when he runs in the annual national A. A. U. indoor championships in New York. There hasn't been anything like that since Paavo Nurmi won 50 straight races, in the middle 1920's, before succumbing to (1) Willie Ritola, and (2) that famous Veal pot-pie.

Kentucky Expected To Breeze by Florida in Other Night Contest

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 25.—If the form sheets stand up under the paper shortage and don't fade, the state of Georgia will not long be represented in the annual Southeastern Conference Basketball Tournament opening here tomorrow afternoon in the spacious armory. According to season's records and all available dope, Georgia Tech and Georgia will not be around longer than it takes to play their first round games, both slated for tomorrow afternoon.

Of the two, Tech, with an in-and-out crew, which alternately has behaved as world beaters and rug beaters this season, is given the best chance to survive. The fast-breaking Jackets, good enough on occasion to blast Vanderbilt on its home court and scare Kentucky stiff at Lexington, and sufficiently weak to lose to the Commodores at home and bow to a weak Georgia team at Athens, are given a fair chance to stop Alabama's smooth-working Crimson Tide in the tournament opener at 3:30. However, the Tide will be a definite favorite, if for no other reason than its season record of 13 wins and four defeats against four triumphs and seven setbacks for the Engineers.

Georgia is just coming up for the ride. Even the Bulldogs, if they'd admit it, don't believe they have a chance with Tennessee's top-seeded Volunteers, who will open defense of their title against the mediocre team of Elmer Lampe at 5 o'clock. All the Bulldogs have to offer is Bobby Moore, a fine performer, and a lot of spirit. The Vols have the Mehen brothers, and if that isn't enough, they have three or four others who know the answers.

Kentucky is expected to romp through against Florida, which has had a miserable season. The second-seeded Wildcats and the Alligators meet at 9 o'clock. There is no team in the Wildcats' bracket who is given much of a chance to block their way to the finals. Vanderbilt and Auburn play the night opener at 7:30 and smart cage observers predict the Commodores will upset the Plainsmen, although the betting was about even on this game.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 25.—(P)—The Little Rock Baseball Company announced tonight that concessionaires at Travelers field next summer would have a new item for their hawkers—defense stamps.

In addition to selling defense stamps along with popcorn, peanuts and pop, Manager Willis Hudlin said all club fines against his players would be assessed in defense stamps.

Hudlin said he would recommend that Trammell Scott, Southern Association proxy, fine all offenders against league rules in defense bonds and stamps.

Rebel Fandom Split by Plans To Quit Sports

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 25.—(P)—An official prediction that the proposed withdrawal of Mississippi State-supported colleges from intercollegiate athletics soon will be carried out, added fuel today to the state-wide dispute as to whether or not a step would help or hinder wartime morale.

The prediction came from Harold Gautier, of Pascagoula, member of the state board of trustees of institutions of higher learning, which has under consideration a resolution calling for discontinuance of intercollegiate athletics, and now is investigating the status of contracts with coaches and out-of-state schools, and of stadium bonds.

It was disclosed today also that the Southeastern Conference executive committee would meet in New Orleans March 7 and discuss the possibility that Ole Miss and Mississippi State, the two Mississippi members, might withdraw or ask for leave of absence—a step which would reduce the conference to 10 members.

A sample of the anti-abandonment sentiment was the remark of Fred Digby in his New Orleans Item column, "The suggestion that all schools in Mississippi abandon competitive sports is a species of hysteria that is un-American."

On the other hand, State Representative Charles Hamilton, co-author of a resolution pending before the state house of representatives, which would give that body's moral support to the step, declared today that "of all the comments made to me only two have been in favor of continuing sports, and one of those was from the father of a boy with an athletic scholarship."

Louis To Fight Big Abe Simon In Title Scrap

Joe Will Donate His Entire Purse to Army Emergency Fund.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—(AP)—Private Joe Louis will make the 21st defense of his heavyweight boxing title in a 15-round bout against Abe Simon at Madison Square Garden Friday, March 27. The show will be for the benefit of the Army emergency fund. The announcement was made jointly today by Promoter Mike Jacobs and Major General Irving J. Phillipson and Colonel H. Clay M. Supplee, representing the fund, which provides for both enlisted men and selectees.

Louis, as in his recent bout for the Navy relief fund, with Buddy Baer, will donate his entire purse. Jacobs again will donate his share of the profits. Simon will get 15 per cent, but will turn back 2 1-2 per cent to the fund.

The Garden will be sealed from $2.50 to $25 for the show. It will be the second fight between Louis and Simon. In the previous meeting, last March 21, in Detroit, Simon lost in the 13th round after putting up a fine fight.

NO PLACE IN AMERICA FOR INTOLERANCE

Editor, Constitution: I listened with extreme pleasure to the radio program, "They Live Forever." I thought of your many editorials on tolerance, fair play, patriotism and Americanism.

On the program they announced and portrayed certain incidents that led to the death of some of our Army boys at Pearl Harbor and the Philippines. By their names it was evident that some of them were Italians, Slavs, Jewish, German and English.

From Memphis, Tenn., we heard from a father, Mr. Schultz, who was originally from Germany but is now an American citizen who lost his only son in this war. He said that he had no regrets losing his son, but that he was proud to know that his only boy had given his life to his country.

In these times, as well as other times, there are many, too many, even in our fair city who are constantly preaching prejudice and hatred, and who do not understand the first principles of fair play in Americanism. It would be a wonderful thing if more of our editors, clergymen and our men of learning, who can better reach the masses, would constantly attempt to teach, educate and instill a more thorough knowledge of what our great country and its constitution stands for. Intolerance has no place in a true American's heart.

DR. IRVING H. GOLDSTEIN, Atlanta.

WANTS RESUMPTION OF RAIL EXCURSIONS

Editor, Constitution: As it is now and will be ever more a problem of tires for cars, I think that the railroads should bring back the excursions this summer.

The public parks can take care of all the people, so if the railroads would revive the excursion trains to Tallulah Falls, Savannah, Charleston and Jacksonville, Birmingham and Montgomery each weekend there would be an enormous cutting of week-end traffic on the roads. They still have them in England to the seashore, so, if they can have them there, why not here?

J. J. HILL, Atlanta.

CHURCH WAS FULL BECAUSE OF STORY

Editor, Constitution: Many thanks for the excellent news story you gave us for our Washington's birthday patriotic vesper. Because of your help we had a church full of people, and I can assure you that they did not go away disappointed.

Stanley Walker, noted New York newspaperman and author of "City Editor" and other works, has a story in the current Saturday Evening Post about Arthur Brisbane, the great and only Hearst columnist, who knew everything and then some. I can't agree with Walker in everything he says about Brisbane, but he's not far off.

I do recall vividly that the Georgian, the Atlanta Hearst paper, was scooped on Brisbane's death. It had decided not to print its issue on that Christmas of 1936. His Forsyth street opposition paper did. Only story it had worth while was that Brisbane had died, just before sunrise. Found dead in his bed.

The Hearst organization was so big, so widely spread, that the smaller fry rarely met the really big shots, much less had opportunity to know them. I met Mr. Hearst on about three occasions. When he was paying his frequent visits to Atlanta. You wouldn't call him genial. Hardly cordial. But he wasn't high hat. He spoke as though he knew my name, that I was on the pay roll, that I did him good.

But I did have talks with Brisbane, the big brain. He came down once to speak at the Georgia Press Institute in Athens and I interviewed him, in a hotel room. He let his hair down a bit then and we talked. Both of us, I learned afterward I had "passed a miracle," as De Lawd did in "The Green Pastures." Because nobody ever had talked to Brisbane. They listened. And it would take more than Brisbane to get me from listening when I'm in the talking mood. I may not add anything to the sum total of human knowledge, but I talk.

No Sense of Humor

Walker says something about Brisbane with which I thoroughly agree—that he had no sense of humor. He was deadly serious. Yet, he "bought" humorists from other papers and syndicates and built up some of the best of the comic strips. He didn't like them himself. He abhorred them. But if they were pulling circulation, then the public knew more than Brisbane.

The article says all the employees, even the highest-salaried, were afraid of Brisbane and likely to degenerate into yes men. That's heaven, I never got high up enough or close enough to be afraid of Mr. Hearst or Mr. Brisbane.

I never have been "skeered" of any boss I've worked for—or worked with, which fits better in newspaper work. I think that if I worked with a man who made me tremble with fear, like Sweet Alice in the Ben Bolt song, I'd quit and go on relief.

I've had numerous bosses in my time and as far as I have discovered they'd been just as friendly toward me as I have toward them.

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

Senator Walter F. George came home to his Georgia people last Sunday to talk to us in an hour when every thing we hold dear is definitely and gravely jeopardized by the united front of the Axis powers. It was a dramatic as well as a picturesque setting there in Atlanta's downtown municipal auditorium last Sunday afternoon—dramatic in the fact that in that row of front seats on the platform sat three men who, a little while ago, were joined in a contest for the United States senate: Mr. George, Mr. Talmadge and Mr. Camp. In that bitterly fought contest they were opposing one another. Last Sunday afternoon they each spoke, now joined heart and hand in a united front for the American way of life.

About them on that platform sat the leaders of every phase and function of Georgia's united, corporate strength of life, civilian and armed forces; and joined with Georgia's united strength were numerous representatives of the national life, civilian and armed forces. Above us and about us were the flags, and with perfect unison and great heartiness we stood to sing the National Anthem and "America." The Scripture lesson was the 100th Psalm, faiths led us in prayer to the God of our fathers.

Senator George spoke without notes. Hurrying away from Washington on Saturday night, he had not the time to compose his great address to manuscript. He spoke out of his great heart of understanding and conviction. And it was all the more impressive. The gentlemen of the press sought to gather up his every word, even as the battery of microphones bore his words out on the lanes of the air to millions of listeners throughout Georgia and neighboring states.

"This is a war of machines," said the senator, "the best machines; but it is more than that. It is a war of conscience, of spirit, of courage. The selected men of our homes have been called to man these machines. They are blood of our blood. They will prove themselves the masters of this dark and difficult day of treacherous and vicious attack upon every sanctity of our freedom-loving people. We did not want war. We prayed that war might be averted. But war has been thrust upon us. And we will not turn away from this challenge.

"We are in this war not by choice, but by necessity. We are not fighting that we may conquer humanity, but that we may serve humanity. We are dedicated to the great and ennobling purpose of preserving democracy for our nation and for the nations of earth. Everyone who does his duty in this hour contributes to the salvation of his own country and to the salvation of civilization. Everyone who fails now, leaves to his posterity a legacy of shame and disgrace."

Arthur Brisbane, Mr. Hearst and Lesser Beings

Toughest one I ever went up against was Foster Coates, famous field man of the Hearst service, who came down to Atlanta to get the Georgian going after Hearst had bought it. He went bellowing about the joint like the Bull of Bashan. On a good friend, Foster Coates was tough—and he liked a tough answer. I think nobody who ever worked with him got a raw deal. If he could deliver, if he couldn't deliver, well, that was just too bad.

Mr. Coates—peace be on his soul—approached me one afternoon when, with a skeleton staff, I was struggling with the Titanic disaster, the Daisy Grace trial and a few other odds and ends. He cursed me for some failure as a merchant marine boss'n would curse a foreman hand. I told him the final edition had been put to bed, I was going home, I wasn't coming back and he could take his newspaper and go to hell with it.

This brought a substantial raise and a long-lasting friendship. Foster Coates was tough—and he liked a tough answer. I think nobody who ever worked with him got a raw deal. If he could deliver, if he couldn't deliver, well, that was just too bad.

Household hint: Lady of Jackson, Ga., who detests seeing her name in the papers, says she writes me about dogs because she knows I'm fond of them. She said her favorite Boston terrier died of pneumonia because her chauffeur bathed him in cold weather. She has another, dear to her heart, and she bathes him in rubbing alcohol. And he's doing fine and is as odorless as a ghost. That word, Mr. Linotype, is "ghost." Not "goat." So don't try any funny business.

Kirk Suttive, editor of the Black-shear paper—which I haven't seen in so long I can't remember whether it's Times, Journal, News or Hooper—may run for the state senate this year, it being Pierce county's turn under the rotation system. I hope he runs and is elected, because he's always full of good stories.

First-Aid Knowledge

Applied by Macon Man

MACON, Ga., Feb. 25.—(P)—J. O. Liles, attending a first aid class for Georgia Power Company employees, heard the instructor tell what to do to treat scaldings. That night his five-year-old son, David, playing in the kitchen, caused his mother to upset a boiling pot of beans in his face. A physician assured Liles his quick first aid treatment with baking soda and water had avoided the burns leaving scars on the boy's face.

GUNNINS GO A-GUNNIN'—The Gunning brothers, and one brother-in-law, left their bakery and automobile businesses yesterday to join Uncle Sam. Three brothers, all of East Point, had made their plans to go to Draft Board No. 12 and volunteer. Brother-in-law B. C. Holland heard the brothers' plans, so he met them at the board. Now all four expect to leave Monday. Pictured above with draft board chairman, Carlos M. Hemperley, second from left, they are, left to right, seated: H. R. Gunning, Board Chairman Carlos Hemperley, C. L. and J. H. Gunning. Holland stands behind them.

Movie-Goers Select Five War Pictures in Top Six.

By GEORGE GALLUP.

Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 25.—"Sergeant York," the Warner Brothers' war film starring Gary Cooper, is voted the best-liked picture of 1941 by the moviegoing public in a survey conducted from coast to coast by the American Institute of Public Opinion.

"Caught in the Draft," comedy of Army camp life starring Bob Hope, received the second highest number of votes, with "Philadelphia Story," starring Katharine Hepburn, third.

Of the six leading choices, five are war films or films with a war background.

Awards Tonight

Tonight in Los Angeles the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences will make its annual award for the picture considered best in 1941 by the 12,000 or more workers in the motion picture industry. Today's Institute poll shows how the movie-going public itself would make the award if they were the ones to decide.

The survey was confined to films released between January 1 and November 30. The six leading choices are shown below. "Philadelphia Story" is the only purely non-war picture in the list of the top choices. In order they are: "Sergeant York" (Warner); "Caught in the Draft" (Paramount); "Philadelphia Story" (M. G. M.); "Dive Bomber" (Warner); "Buck Privates" (Universal); and "Yank in the RAF" (20th Century-Fox).

Academy Selections. Only one of these pictures which the public voted "best-liked" is included among the 10 films nominated by the Academy for final voting as the "outstanding motion picture" of 1941. The Academy nominations, in alphabetical order, are: "Blossoms in the Dust," "Citizen Kane," "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," "Midnight in the Dawn," "How Green Was My Valley," "The Little Foxes," "The Maltese Falcon," "One Foot in Heaven," "Sergeant York," and "Suspicion."

The "Philadelphia Story" received top rating among the women, while "Sergeant York" was the choice of the men. Here's the choices by sexes:

Males. "Sergeant York," "Dive Bomber," "Buck Privates," "Caught in the Draft," "A Yank in the RAF," and "Keep 'Em Flying."

Females. "Philadelphia Story," "Blossoms in the Dust," "Sergeant York," "The Great Lie," "Penny Serenade," "Sun Valley Serenade." There was also a difference in choice between the people in the upper and lower income groups. Here's their selection:

Upper Income Group. "Sergeant York," "Philadelphia Story," "Citizen Kane," "Dive Bomber," "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," "The Little Foxes."

Lower Income Group. "Sergeant York," "Dive Bomber," "Hold That Ghost," "Caught in the Draft," "Keep 'Em Flying," "Yank in the RAF."

IRON LUNG FUND.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Feb. 25. An iron lung, similar to one being sought for Baldwin county, is on display at a store here under auspices of the Morris-Little Post No. 6, American Legion. The legion post is conducting a drive to raise funds for purchasing one of the lungs.

If You Get Up Nights You Can't Feel Right

If you have been up 4 or more times a night your rest is broken and it's no wonder if you feel old and run down before your time. Functional rather than organic or systemic kidney and bladder trouble often may be the cause of many pains and symptoms simply because the kidneys may be tired and not working fast enough in filtering and removing irritating excess acids, poisons and wastes from your blood. So if you get up nights or suffer from burning, scanty or frequent passages, leg pains, backache, or swollen ankles, due to non-organic or non-systemic kidney and bladder trouble, prescription called Cystex. Because it has given such joyous, happy relief in so high a percentage of such cases, Cystex is sold under a guarantee of money back on return of empty package unless completely satisfactory to you. Cystex costs only 35¢ at drug stores and the guarantee protects you.

DeKalb Processes Fruits, Vegetables

The people of DeKalb county have processed 90,000 cans of fruits and vegetables in the last year for home needs, directors of three canning plants announced yesterday.

A supply of 75,000 cans has been laid in for the coming season when a great increase in the amount of food put up in DeKalb plants is anticipated.

Harold Smith operates the plant at Chamblee, S. A. Moss at Tucker and R. N. Jones at Southwest DeKalb. All three are teachers of vocational agriculture in DeKalb county schools.

war and defense activity was an important determining factor.

"Others, such as population, area and exposure to potential air or naval attack, played a part in setting up the state reserves."

Uniform distribution of automobiles throughout the nation will begin March 2.

What To Do About YOUR GAS SERVICE During Atlanta's Blackout Tonight

Use your gas service as you do normally, during Atlanta's Blackout tonight.

Do NOT turn out pilot lights

It is not necessary or desirable to turn out the pilot lights on your gas range, your gas refrigerator, your gas water heater or your gas furnace. To do so would interrupt these essential gas services in your home, and you would have to wait for a trained man to come from the Gas Company to re-light the pilots.

Do NOT turn your gas off at the meter

It is not necessary or advisable to turn your gas off at the meter. This would mean a complete interruption of your gas service, and you would have to wait for a trained man to come from the Gas Company to restore service. Once your gas is turned off at the meter, for any reason, you should not attempt to turn it back on yourself.

We are working out with local Civilian Defense Authorities additional detailed instructions as to what you should do about your gas service in the event of an AIR RAID in Atlanta. These instructions will be published. Watch for them.

Let us repeat—during Atlanta's BLACKOUT tonight—your gas service and appliances, including pilot lights, should be operated in their normal manner. Help us help you and give the fullest co-operation to Civilian Defense authorities by doing nothing during the Blackout tonight that will interrupt your gas service.

What Stocks Did.

Advances 675, Declines 185, Unchanged 1.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—(AP)—An insignificant amount of selling put the majority of stocks in slightly lower territory today, but there were some wide swings in various issues touched by the news.

A shining exception to the faltering action was Douglas Aircraft which climbed 3 1/2 points at the best on the appearance of the company's showing profits equal to the previous year.

Certain of the sugar and soft drink shares fell hard as trade circles heard that industrial consumers might not receive more than 50 per cent of the sugar used in February last year. Coca-Cola dipped 3 1/2 to a new 1941-42 low and Coca-Cola International, a holding firm for Coca-Cola shares, dropped 2 1/2 points from the previous sale on July 16 to 470, the lowest since 1934.

The general run of stocks lacked the resistance shown in the previous session. Steels, motors, rails and oils could not erase the fractional losses registered in the early proceedings.

Feebleness of support reflected speculative concern over Java and Burma, the latest Axis submarine attacks on tankers in the Atlantic and worry over probable losses in business levies in the new tax fraction.

Lower in an uneven curb were Cities Service, Humble and Gulf Oil. Bell Aircraft edged up a fraction.

'Bugs' Baer Says:

Washington in wartimes is like a laughing academy with rubber bars on the windows.

Crackpots and screwballs are running as loose as catfish in the Missouri.

You must sympathize with Mr. Roosevelt when he asks the parasites and kibitzers to scram. The hotels are as crowded as they were in the last war, when even a flagpole-sitter couldn't get an outside room.

Helping hands are all right but you don't want them in your pockets in the subway. Nor trying to shake yours when you have work to do.

P. S. The mob of wackies would fool you at first. But they are Coxey's army with a shave.

Defense Stamp Prizes Offered At Cattle Show

Sixth Annual Moultrie Event Is Set for March 3-4.

MOULTRIE, Ga., Feb. 25.—(AP) The sixth annual Moultrie fat cattle show has gone "all out" for national defense.

D. H. Bright, show chairman, said today prize money given in the 1942 event scheduled for March 3-4 at the local livestock auditorium, will be in the form of defense savings stamps. These prizes, he added, are in addition to the regular cups and ribbons which have been presented annually to winners in the various events.

In addition to the FFA and 4-H Club divisional events and the open carlot competition, a new contest in the form of breed cattle judging will be held this year, Bright said.

More than a hundred entries already have been received, officials said, although the entry list does not close until the day previous to the show.

Brunswick Group Favors Consumers' Sales Tax

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Feb. 25.—(AP)—The Brunswick Retail Merchants Association today called on similar groups over the state to approve a consumers sales tax in preference to a salary tax as a means of raising war funds for the government.

At a meeting called especially to consider taxes, the local group unanimously approved the sales tax and decided to send copies of its resolution to retail merchant associations in other Georgia cities in the hope they will take similar action.

The resolution also will be sent to Georgia senators and congressmen.

State Spends $4,759,000 In One Day

The state's bank account took a terrific beating yesterday as the Governor wrote checks for $4,759,000, of which $3,500,000 was to repay a school loan made last October.

Pointing out the school loan was being paid back on the date it was due, the Governor scribbled his name on a check made out jointly to four banks—the First National, Citizens & Southern, Fulton National and the Trust Company of Georgia. Each will receive $875,000.

This money was borrowed from the four Atlanta banks last fall to pay the school teachers and tide the state over until property taxes began coming in. The state paid an interest rate of three-eighths of one per cent, the Governor said.

Other money paid out by the Governor yesterday included $365,000 going to counties out of the gasoline tax, $812,707 for current teachers' salaries; $7,950 for school superintendents' salaries; $25,000 for defense purposes, including the Citizens' Defense Committee and the State Guard, and $49,105 in Confederate pensions.

The Governor had to dip into the emergency fund for $27,552.85 in order to pay the counties their normal $365,000 in gasoline taxes, since there was a 10 per cent reduction in January taxes as compared with December.

At the same time the Governor was making these payments, he set aside $50,000 for defense activities. This makes a total of $100,000 the state has put into the defense program.

After yesterday's payments, State Auditor B. F. Thrasher said the state had between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000 in the bank, but explained this would have to be used for normal operations the rest of the year.

Can't Have Wife and Cornpone Too, So He Takes Cornpone

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Feb. 25. (P)—A divorce based on the difference between northern and southern cooking and conflicting backgrounds of the husband and wife was upheld today by the Florida supreme court.

The court declined to reopen a suit in which Warren S. Hyman, a native of central Georgia, obtained a divorce from Minnesota-reared Hermina Hallett Hyman on grounds of extreme cruelty. An order granting alimony was vacated.

"The husband was raised on southern cooking and northern cooking interfered with his digestion," the court said in an opinion by Justice Roy Chapman. "He liked hot biscuit and corn bread at every meal, and light bread and crackers were not on the Georgia menu."

"It is indisputable that the parties possessed distinct and conflicting views and differences on religion, education, habits, standards, concepts and cultural backgrounds.

"Additional to these apparent insuperable barriers there existed a prenuptial agreement" that Hyman's mother "should become a member of the family in the home to be established by the parties."

"The wife was the housekeeper and supervised the preparation of all meals. The mother-in-law had for many years kept house and had fixed views on the management of the home."

"The gastronomic pleasures of southern people were discussed and the words 'glutton,' 'buttnsky' and 'sanctified hypocrite' were applied to the mother-in-law."

Atlanta Soldier Held in Slaying

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. (P)—John Rathbun, 20-year-old soldier from Atlanta stationed at Bolling Field, was held today for action by a grand jury in the slaying of Conrad Steele, 36, Washington taxicab driver.

The action was taken at an inquest at which Rathbun testified that he was "drunk at the time and didn't know what I was doing."

Steele was fatally shot yesterday morning by a man in uniform. Tracing of a missing gun led to Rathbun's arrest.

Knitters Note! Ply Needles for Specific Needs

Patriotic knitters of the nation may soon rest on their laurels—by request of the War Production Board.

Local Red Cross officials yesterday relayed to their members a message from R. B. Guthrie, chief of the textiles, clothing and leather goods branch, asking women to knit to fill a need, but to put up their needles unless they have a definite order from a commanding officer to the Red Cross.

"It is our opinion that the average soldier and sailor is adequately clothed by the government and doesn't need additional clothing," Guthrie said. "Our boys in Ireland are an exception. They can make good use of additional clothing. The same may be true of soldiers sent into the field on long campaigns."

"On the whole, we don't want a broad wave of knitting that will consume millions of pounds of wool that is needed for more essential purposes."

The Red Cross will ask its members to knit only on definite orders from Army officials, local representatives said yesterday.

Watson Cary To Seek Post In Congress

Watson Cary, secretary of the Atlanta Democratic executive committee, yesterday announced as a candidate for congress from the fifth district, basing his campaign on a program to rehabilitate the American people and make them a nation of home and farm owners after the war.

Cary said he had a plan, which had been submitted to the President and twice referred to the United States Treasury Department, for providing homes and farms, ranging up to $5,000, at a cost of not more than two per cent per year.

He explained that under his plan a man earning only $10 a week could own a $2,000 home for only $40 a year. This program, he said, would cost a minimum of $25,000,000,000, but not increase the public debt one cent. Full details of how this plan could be operated will be outlined during the campaign, he said.

A native of Crawfordville, in Taliaferro county, Cary was graduated from Stephens High school at Crawfordville and the old Tenth District Agricultural school at Granite Hill. He is a member of the Greenfield Masonic lodge, past patron of the Order of the Eastern Star, past president of the Bible class of the Jackson Hill Baptist church and a resident of the fifth ward.

Cary is the second candidate to announce for the congressional post held by Congressman Robert H. Jackson, of Jacksonville, Fulton county school superintendent, announced about two weeks ago.
